Warring Laos Factions Sign Formal Cease-Fire

'Friendly' Meeting, All Jovial, Laughing

NAMONE, Laos (UPI)—The three warring factions of Laos met in a dirt floored schoolhouse far behind Communist lines today and signed a formal cease-fire agreement.

The meeting was so friendly there was laughing and joking on all sides.

Representatives of the pro-Western government of Prince Boun Oum, the neutralists of Prince Souvanna Phouma and the Communist Pathet Lao also agreed to meet tomorrow and try to name a joint delegation to the Geneva conference.

Today's meeting in this thatched village 60 miles north of Vientiane represented a series of major concessions to the Leftists by the royal government since an informal and shaky truce went into effect May 3.

The first was the decision to go ahead with joint political and military talks at the same time, a demand put forth repeatedly by the communists.

The second was to travel, via helicopter, to Namone deep in Pathet Lao territory. The government had held out earlier for the village of Hin Heup in no man's land.

The third was to negotiate with the Pathet Lao although the Soviet-backed guerrillas have not even claimed to have a formal government.

The agreement to hold military and political talks was announced by government Gen. Sing Rattanasamay and was greeted with clapping by representatives of the two rebel factions.

Both military and political figures took part in today's talks. Correspondents got the impression the Souvanna group was remaining aloof from both sides. The Souvanna delegate, Pheng Phong Savan, former national assembly president, gave the impression he was dealing with a small quarrel among children.

But all were jovial.

Rusk, Gromyko Talks Fail To End Deadlock

GENEVA (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk met with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko for 70 minutes today in a vain effort to break the deadlock that has stalled the start of the peace conference on Laos.

"No progress yet," a grim faced Rusk said after the meeting at Gromyko's villa.

Rusk, negotiating here for the first time with the Russians since he became secretary of state, said the deadlock centered around Russia's last minute insistance to seat the pro-Communist Laotian rebels at the 14-nation conference which was to have started yesterday.

The secretary's vain effort to settle the conflict set off a round of meetings here. Foreign Secretary Lord Home and Foreign Minister Maurice de Murville went to U. S. delegation headquarters to huddle with Rusk, while Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon was meeting with Gromyko.

Couve planned to call on the Russian leader later today, and Home had scheduled a meeting with Red China's Foreign Minister Chen Yi.

Rusk and roving Ambassador Averell Harriman, who will replace him as chief U. S. delegate to the conference next week, drove to Gromyko's villa at 10 a.m. for the meeting which it was hoped would iron out East-West differences.

The two Americans emerged unsmiling at 11:10 a.m. Later, when Rusk was asked when he thought the conference might get under way, he said with a laugh, "don't give up your rooms, boys."

Gromyko's only comment on the meeting was that "we have been discussing problems relating to the conference."

MARIN MOTHER—Mrs. Leona Pashilk of San Rafael has been named by KTIM as Marin's "Mother of the Year." When told of the honor, the 37-year-old mother of 11, said, "I didn't know I had so many friends! I'm breathless!" (Independent-Journal photo)

11 CHILDREN

'Mother Of Year' Named By KTIM

By DOROTHY SIMPERS

A dark-haired, brown-eyed young woman who believes in having her 11 children do things together is radio station KTIM's Marin "Mother of the Year."

Mrs. Leona Pashilk of 253 Prospect Drive, San Rafael, was chosen for the honor from nominees sent in by radio listeners, who gave their reasons for their choice.

She is the wife of Randolph Pashilk, night foreman at Bergman Manufacturing Co. in San Rafael. The Pashilks' seven sons and four daughters range in age from 5 to 18. Three attend San Rafael High School and seven are at St. Raphael's School. The youngest, five-year old Debra, is still at home.

Mrs. Pashilk was "breathless" when informed of the honor. "I didn't know I had that many friends who thought so much of me," she said.

She was nominated for mother of the year by a friend, Mrs. Charles Bogni of 8 Redding Way, San Rafael, but knew nothing about it until KTIM manager Hugh Turner notified her.

Mrs. Bogni's letter was accompanied by the signatures of many of Mr. and Mrs. Pashilk's friends.

"She is well liked by everyone in town," Mrs. Bogni wrote.

"It's not easy to raise a big family these days," Mrs. Pashilk admitted. "There are problems every day that have to be ironed out."

She likes to keep the family home together as much as possible. They enjoy doing things together—playing games, taking trips, swimming in the Russian River.

"They are average children, and have their squabbles," Mrs. Pashilk said. But they all help each other, the older ones teaching the younger what is right and wrong, she added.

A dollar has to stretch farther with a big family, too. Mrs. Pashilk bakes five loaves of bread about every second day, and the family buys meat for a home freezer from a rancher. Each child has his chores around the house, and helps with the cooking.

"It takes a lot of patience," Mrs. Pashilk said. "Sometimes that runs out," she added with a laugh.

At 37, she is an attractive woman who certainly doesn't

Hearing Set For 'Starved' Convict

A San Quentin convict in isolation, who says he is being starved and mistreated, will get a hearing on June 5 in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Thomas F. Keating yesterday ordered Warden Fred R. Dickson to appear in court at 11:30 on June 5 to discuss the case of Joseph E. Falletich Jr., 22, an Orange County robber.

At that time, the warden will be asked to show cause why a writ of habeas corpus should not be issued to have Falletich brought into court to present his grievances.

In a handwritten petition filed yesterday, Falletich says he has not eaten a meal since April 23. He says he is being served a kind of vegetable loaf twice a day, with three slices of bread. Lately, the vegetable loaf is stale and spoiled because it is over two weeks old, the convict asserts.

He says he is in an isolation cell 24 hours a day without proper exercise, and he is getting "very hungry and weak."

He asks the court for immediate investigation and prays that he "be given proper food ration, even for just a few days

Two Conflicting Views On Aldeguer's 'Intent'

Two psychiatrists presented conflicting views yesterday on the state-of-mind of Luis S. Aldeguer, 37, at the time he struck out with a hunting knife against his estranged wife and her boy friend.

One doctor said he does not think Aldeguer was capable of planning a calculated act with intent to kill. The other testified that Aldeguer was capable of forming such an intent.

The doctors' testimonies concluded the presentation of evidence to a jury sitting before Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court.

The trial, which has been going on for two weeks, is recessed until 10 a.m. Tuesday. Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety and Public Defender Peter Allen Smith will present final arguments then. Aldeguer's fate should be in the hands of the jury Wednesday.

Aldeguer is accused of murdering Roger Collins Jr., 38, and attempting to murder Mrs. Ruth Aldeguer, 37, at her home at 10 Plymouth Circle on Jan. 21.

Among witnesses called by the defense yesterday was Mrs. Aldeguer's sister, Mrs. Alice Gualco of San Francisco. Mrs. Gualco told the jurors that Aldeguer (her brother-in-law) was a "very good husband" and no wife could ask for more.

During the Aldeguer divorce hearings last year, Mrs. Gualco had testified against Aldeguer. Yesterday, she said she should

Terrorist Bomb Club In Paris

PARIS (UPI) — French right-wing extremists bombed a club in the heart of the Paris tourist district today in one of a series of terrorist blasts marking the third anniversary of the Algerian settlers uprising that swept President Charles de Gaulle to power.

The explosive blew out windows and wrecked furnishings in the third floor "Cercle de la Republique" club.

Dozens of tourists—including an American woman— walking along the famous Avenue de L'Opera below escaped injury from the cascade of falling glass.

Cuba Calls For More Informers

MIAMI (UPI) — Cuba called today for expansion of its "Big Brother" network of informers to defend Fidel Castro's revolution.

Havana, in broadcasts monitored here, renewed the offical appeal to the people to volunteer for so-called revolutionary defense committees.

Earlier broadcasts said at least "half a million" informers were needed to safeguard the revolution against its "imperialist enemies."

A government statement blasted the "reactionary oligarchy" of Uruguay which was said to be considering the recognition of a Cuban government-in-exile led by Jose Miro Cardona, head of the revolutionary council which sponsored last month's invasion.

Wild Blaze Hits Hollywood Hills

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Water-bombing airplanes teamed with firemen today to try and check a massive wind-fed fire that destroyed or damaged 24 luxury homes in the Hollywood hills. (See also photo, page 8.)

No fatalities and only minor injuries were reported in the leaping flames that destroyed about 1,200 acres of brush and trees—about half of it inside famed Griffith park. For a time last night both the park zoo and observatory were threatened.

Coors', Airman's Slayer Given Life Sentence

Joseph Corbett Jr., 32, who killed a Hamilton Air Force Base sergeant in 1950 and escaped from prison to kidnap and murder wealthy brewer Adolph Coors III, was ordered to life in prison yesterday by a Colorado district court.

Corbett was arrested in a Vancouver, B.C., hotel Sept. 29 of last year after an intensive manhunt by police. Corbett had escaped from Chino minimum security facility in 1955 where he was transferred from San Quentin Prison for the murder of Sgt. Allen L. Read of Hamilton Air Force Base.

Count On Us, Johnson Tells Philippines

MANILA (UPI) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson today reassured the nervous Philippines that the United States would help its allies resist further Communist expansion in Southeast Asia.

He said he had found a will to survive in South Viet Nam and in the Philippines and pledged: "The United States will stand together with you, and with any free nation which will not surrender."

Johnson made the vow in a speech at the University of the Philippines before making a similar address to the Philippine Congress.

The Philippine Government has made no secret of its apprehension over the advance of Communism in Southeast Asia and the failure of SEATO to take firm action against the Reds in Laos.

Johnson sought to allay these fears in his public addresses and in private talks with President Carlos P. Garcia and other officials during a whirlwind stopover on his swing through Asia.

Cancer Kills Gary Cooper

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gary Cooper, the movies' most enduring star, died today of cancer. He was 60.

Death ended his valiant fight against the disease at 12:27 p.m.

A spokesman said the actor had been "near the brink of death for days." Said Cooper's doctor: "Any other man would have died 48 hours ago."

The end came at his Bel-Air home. Only his wife, Rocky, his daughter, Maria, and his doctor were at his side.

His last days were spent under heavy sedation, to ease the intense pain which wracked his once-robust frame. The cancer had spread to many parts of his body.

Rt. Rev. Daniel Sullivan, a longtime friend of Cooper, administered last rites of the Catholic Church yesterday.

MOTHER'S DAY

English Will Be Used At St. Nicholas

Tomorrow, Mother's Day, the entire service of the St. Nicholas Russian Orthodox Church in San Anselmo will be sung in English.

Services in English at St. Nicholas Church, 102 Ross Avenue, have become a regular feature on all American national holidays. The pastor and the congregation have offered an invitation to all who may be interested in an English rendition of the traditionally beautiful Orthodox liturgy. The service will be held at 10:30 a.m.

A look at the history of the Orthodox Church shows that in whatever country its congregations have established, they eventually became absorbed into the life of that community and country. The consequence being that the church has adopted the language of the respective country and liturgical and other service books are translated into the new country's language.

It has also been shown that the Orthodox Church has adapted itself to its new locality and become an integral part of the community. Thus accepting a new nationality without, however, "surrendering its membership in the great sisterhood of the Orthodox churches of the world."

This condition seems to be repeating itself, as some observers have noted, in the United States. Orthodoxy was first brought to California in 1814 by the earliest Russian settlers and their original chapel still stands at Fort Ross. Many of the Orthodox churches in the United States, whether of Russian, Greek, Serbian, Roumanian, Syrian or another origin, are gradually turning to English as their language, it has been reported.

Many Orthodox members have expressed a hope that the near future will bring into being a true American Orthodox Church—a church which will have "lost its racial origins, but which will always preserve the individual character of universal Orthodoxy."

Trinity Church Ground Breaking Is Scheduled

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Trinity Lutheran Church of San Rafael will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. at the new church site on Woodland Avenue between B and Lindaro Streets.

Church leaders will participate in the ceremony as well as San Rafael Mayor John F. McInnis and Marin County Supervisor Walter Castro. Among the church leaders will be building committee chairman Charles Van Dyke and Jack Craemer, president of the board of directors.

Sunday school pupil Bruce Brandhorst, who has an outstanding record at the church, will represent the children of the parish. Master of ceremonies will be W. Ray Normington and Pastor Fred C. Braunschweiger will officiate.

A $212,500 contract to build the church and educational unit was awarded last week to H. S. Meinberger and Son of San Rafael. Construction is scheduled to be completed by December, said Pastor Braunschweiger. The architect is Donald Powers Smith of San Francisco.

The educational unit will consist of four large assembly rooms for Sunday School and organizational functions and is "readily adopted for use as a parochial school in the future," said the pastor.

Tomorrow's 9 a.m. worship service at 1415 Fifth Avenue will be shortened so worshipers can arrive on time at the new church site for the ground-breaking, announced Pastor Braunschweiger.

Inquirer's Class

Due to the "popularity" of the last Inquirer's Class at the Sausalito Presbyterian Church, Pastor David C. Jacobsen has announced he will begin another six-week series May 21, subsequent to a 12:15 luncheon at the church.

Work In Brazil

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Smith, missionaries to Brazil, will tell of their work tomorrow at the 9:45 a.m. Sunday school hour and the 11 a.m. worship service of the Calvary Baptist Church in Larkspur, announced Pastor Michael Barkowska.

Discrimination In Housing Is Panel's Target

A panel discussion with representatives from a minority race, a seminary, and the real estate business will be held on "Discrimination in Housing," Tuesday at the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael.

Lester Ecke, president of the Presbyterian Men's group which is sponsoring the event, said the panel discussion will follow a 6:30 p.m. dinner in Canoles Hall at the church.

Dr. Granville Coggs of Terra Linda will represent the minority race's point of view, and Dr. John Bodo of the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo will represent a theological point of view. A representative of the real estate business has not been announced.

San Rafael Pastor Wesley C. Baker will moderate the panel.

PILGRIMS WILL WIND ALONG MARIN STREET

The singing procession of worshippers led by an Honor Guard of the Knights of Columbus along King Street in Larkspur tomorrow afternoon will be an annual Pilgrimage in honor of Our Lady of Fatima.

The pilgrims will leave St. Patrick's Church in Larkspur at 3 o'clock and wind their way singing hymns and reciting the Rosary. They will proceed to the outdoor shrine of Our Lady of Fatima and place a crown of roses on her head, announced Mrs. T. P. Scott, parish member.

The afternoon's celebration will conclude with a 4 p.m. Mass, and a sermon by Marist Father John Hillman of San Rafael. Larkspur Pastor James J. Healy who will be among the clergy leading the procession invited "all to join in this yearly tribute to Our Lady, which is celebrated on a most fitting date—Mother's Day."

Society Officers Are Elected At Church

Mrs. Gene Nolin, of 618 Galerita Way, Santa Venetia, has been elected president of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church of Corte Madera, announced Mrs. R. M. McCallum, publicity chairman.

Other officers installed were: Mrs. Gene Nolin, president; Mrs. Erling Finwall, vice president and program chairman; Mrs. Gerald Moyer, vice president for Christian service and love gift chairman; Mrs. Donald Carroll, vice president for Christian training and family life chairman; Mrs. Muncie Bonner, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Milford Carroll, White Cross chairman; Mrs. Reginald Chrisholm, Christian social relations chairman; Mrs. Albert LaRose, spiritual life chairman; Mrs. Bertha Williams, good cheer chairman; Mrs. McCallum, publicity chairman; and Mrs. Carl Olson, librarian.

Christian Beginnings

NEW YORK (AP) — The early centuries of Christianity, from the days of the apostles until the Middle Ages, are traced in a profusely illustrated new book, "The Kingdoms of Christ" (McGraw-Hill) by Peter Bamm. Says he: "For the success of Christianity in the beginning, the historical circumstances were of greatest importance."

Christian Science

The immortal status of the children of God will be brought out at Marin County Christian Science services tomorrow in a Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Mortals and Immortals," it was announced.

'WALKING WITH GOD'

Mrs. Frank Schekenbach of Novato holds her infant daughter, Sherilyn Marie while Pastor Ole Winter demonstrates the procedure of Baptism which was to be inacted at the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church's Mother-Daughter tea today. The theme "Walking With God," was in conjunction with Mother's Day. The program featured "realistic inactments of the highlights of a Christian girl's growth," from Baptism to motherhood, said Mrs. Stuart Stevens, church member. During the program "That Wonderful Mother of Mine" was sung by Mrs. Marvin Soiland. (Independent-Journal photo)

Trinity Church Ground Breaking Is Scheduled

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Trinity Lutheran Church of San Rafael will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. at the new church site on Woodland Avenue between B and Lindaro Streets.

Church leaders will participate in the ceremony as well as San Rafael Mayor John F. McInnis and Marin County Supervisor Walter Castro. Among the church leaders will be building committee chairman Charles Van Dyke and Jack Craemer, president of the board of directors.

Sunday school pupil Bruce Brandhorst, who has an outstanding record at the church, will represent the children of the parish. Master of ceremonies will be W. Ray Normington and Pastor Fred C. Braunschweiger will officiate.

A $212,500 contract to build the church and educational unit was awarded last week to H. S. Meinberger and Son of San Rafael. Construction is scheduled to be completed by December, said Pastor Braunschweiger. The architect is Donald Powers Smith of San Francisco.

The educational unit will consist of four large assembly rooms for Sunday School and organizational functions and is "readily adopted for use as a parochial school in the future," said the pastor.

Tomorrow's 9 a.m. worship service at 1415 Fifth Avenue will be shortened so worshipers can arrive on time at the new church site for the groundbreaking, announced Pastor Braunschweiger.

Inquirer's Class

Due to the "popularity" of the last Inquirer's Class at the Sausalito Presbyterian Church, Pastor David C. Jacobsen has announced he will begin another six-week series May 21, subsequent to a 12:15 luncheon at the church.

Work In Brazil

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Smith, missionaries to Brazil, will tell of their work tomorrow at the 9:45 a.m. Sunday school hour and the 11 a.m. worship service of the Calvary Baptist Church in Larkspur, announced Pastor Michael Barkowska.

Discrimination In Housing Is Panel's Target

A panel discussion with representatives from a minority race, a seminary, and the real estate business will be held on "Discrimination in Housing," Tuesday at the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael.

Lester Ecke, president of the Presbyterian Men's group which is sponsoring the event, said the panel discussion will follow a 6:30 p.m. dinner in Canoles Hall at the church.

Dr. Granville Coggs of Terra Linda will represent the minority race's point of view, and Dr. John Bodo of the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo will represent a theological point of view. A representative of the real estate business has not been announced.

San Rafael Pastor Wesley C. Baker will moderate the panel.

PILGRIMS WILL WIND ALONG MARIN STREET

The singing procession of worshippers led by an Honor Guard of the Knights of Columbus along King Street in Larkspur tomorrow afternoon will be an annual Pilgrimage in honor of Our Lady of Fatima.

The pilgrims will leave St. Patrick's Church in Larkspur at 3 o'clock and wind their way singing hymns and reciting the Rosary. They will proceed to the outdoor shrine of Our Lady of Fatima and place a crown of roses on her head, announced Mrs. T. P. Scott, parish member.

The afternoon's celebration will conclude with a 4 p.m. Mass, and a sermon by Marist Father John Hillman of San Rafael. Larkspur Pastor James J. Healy who will be among the clergy leading the procession invited "all to join in this yearly tribute to Our Lady, which is celebrated on a most fitting date—Mother's Day."

Society Officers Are Elected At Church

Mrs. Gene Nolin, of 618 Galerita Way, Santa Venetia, has been elected president of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church of Corte Madera, announced Mrs. R. M. McCallum, publicity chairman.

Other officers installed were: Mrs. Gene Nolin, president; Mrs. Erling Finwall, vice president and program chairman; Mrs. Gerald Moyer, vice president for Christian service and love gift chairman; Mrs. Donald Carroll, vice president for Christian training and family life chairman; Mrs. Muncie Bonner, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Milford Carroll, White Cross chairman; Mrs. Reginald Chrisholm, Christian social relations chairman; Mrs. Albert LaRose, spiritual life chairman; Mrs. Bertha Williams, good cheer chairman; Mrs. McCallum, publicity chairman; and Mrs. Carl Olson, librarian.

MOTHER'S DAY

English Will Be Used At St. Nicholas

Tomorrow, Mother's Day, the entire service of the St. Nicholas Russian Orthodox Church in San Anselmo will be sung in English.

Services in English at St. Nicholas Church, 102 Ross Avenue, have become a regular feature on all American national holidays. The pastor and the congregation have offered an invitation to all who may be interested in an English rendition of the traditionally beautiful Orthodox liturgy. The service will be held at 10:30 a.m.

A look at the history of the Orthodox Church shows that in whatever country its congregations have established, they eventually became absorbed into the life of that community and country. The consequence being that the church has adopted the language of the respective country and liturgical and other service books are translated into the new country's language.

It has also been shown that the Orthodox Church has adapted itself to its new locality and become an integral part of the community. Thus accepting a new nationality without, however, "surrendering its membership in the great sisterhood of the Orthodox churches of the world."

This condition seems to be repeating itself, as some observers have noted, in the United States. Orthodoxy was first brought to California in 1814 by the earliest Russian settlers and their original chapel still stands at Fort Ross. Many of the Orthodox churches in the United States, whether of Russian, Greek, Serbian, Roumanian, Syrian or another origin, are gradually turning to English as their language, it has been reported.

Many Orthodox members have expressed a hope that the near future will bring into being a true American Orthodox Church—a church which will have "lost its racial origins, but which will always preserve the individual character of universal Orthodoxy."

Christian Beginnings

NEW YORK (AP) — The early centuries of Christianity, from the days of the apostles until the Middle Ages, are traced in a profusely illustrated new book, "The Kingdoms of Christ" (McGraw-Hill) by Peter Bamm. Says he: "For the success of Christianity in the beginning, the historical circumstances were of greatest importance."

Christian Science

The immortal status of the children of God will be brought out at Marin County Christian Science services tomorrow in a Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Mortals and Immortals," it was announced.

Mt. Etna Erupts

CATANIA, Sicily (UPI) — Mount Etna blasted rocks as big as trucks up to 5,000 feet into the air early today, then subsided from violent eruption to low-key rumbling.

A small river of lava oozed down its slope towards the inhabited lowlands and the volcano's fiery glow could be seen for hundreds of miles.

The Catania Volcanology Institute said eruptions which began last night shortly before midnight sent molten rocks soaring high into the air.

Slander Charged

AUGSBURG, Germany (UPI) — S. W. Naujocks, a German-American reporter for the "Overseas Weekly," who accused a U. S. general of indoctrinating his troops with John Birch Society literature, today faced slander charges.

Naujocks was ordered yesterday to appear in a German court next Friday to answer charges that he slandered Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker, former commander of the 24th Infantry Division in Augsburg.

Walker's suit accused Naujocks of "rumor-mongering."

Augsburg Chief Prosecutor Franz Weiss said Naujocks faced a maximum penalty of a $2,500 fine or a year in jail, or both, if convicted.

Pacifists In Capitol

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A group of pacifists who plan to march from San Francisco to Moscow today planned the next step of their march after picketing the White House and the Pentagon.

The group started with 10 people on Dec. 1 and added about 30 persons ranging from 9 to 73, as it crossed the nation.

During yesterday's demonstration, the pacifists left a letter for President John F. Kennedy, asking for "approval of our goals." Next they went to the Pentagon, where they left a letter urging renunciation of war for the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Farm Land Flooded

By UP INTERNATIONAL

Slow moving flood crests slid downstream in southern Illinois and Indiana today, turning freshly-seeded farm fields into muddy lakes filled with bobbing debris and dead livestock.

In the flood zones, scores of families waited for the water to go down so they could begin the seemingly hopeless task of cleaning up.

Downstream, local authorities aided by National Guardsmen and volunteers raced against steadily rising rivers to make levees and dikes higher and stronger before it would be too late.

Eichmann's Going To Gallows On Paper

JERUSALEM (UPI) — If Adolf Eichmann were given to nightmares, his sleep would be filled with visions of white pieces of paper. They would make a sort of white, wintry trail leading up the steps of the gallows.

For, after five weeks of this trial, it has become obvious that if Eichmann is convicted and hanged it is going to be papers and not people that seal his doom. A balance sheet of testimony against Eichmann shows that only one of the many witnesses has said anything really damaging against him.

That was early in the trial when a British Jew, Maurice Fleishmann, peered through the bullet-proof glass dock and put the finger on Eichmann. He identified him as the Nazi officer who told him in Vienna years ago that he was going to clear all the Jews out of Austria.

All the rest of the witnesses, relating the horror of the concentration and extermination camps, have told gripping stories that, from a strictly legal standpoint, are completely irrelevant to the issues on trial here. Apparently none of them ever saw Eichmann and many of them never heard his name during the days of their ordeal.

But the pieces of paper are a different matter. The prosecution has submitted 650 of them so far and has 1,000 more to come.

This is the picture of Eichmann that the documents draw:

He was more rabid against the Jews than Adolf Hitler himself. Hitler and the German Army were opposed to killing half-Jews—children of marriages between Gentiles and Jews. Eichmann was in favor of killing them.

Contrary to his story that he never personally ordered the execution of Jews, two documents prove that he personally hunted them down and ordered them shipped to extermination camps.

He overrode the protests of foreign governments about his treatment of Jews. Italy, Denmark, Norway, Vichy France and Romania at various times protested or attempted to help the Jewish members of their population.

Kasavubu Calls Parliament Back Into Session

LEOPOLVILLE, The Congo (AP) — President Joseph Kasavubu today called Parliament back into session to help resolve the political chaos that has split the nation since its founding. It is expected to meet in a few weeks.

"After nearly 10 months of confusion, misery and all kinds of privation," the president said in an address, "each of us will have taken note of the need for stable social order based on the principles of public morality and legality."

The call for Parliament to meet represented an attempt to bring Katanga back under control of the central government, now that Katanga President Moise Tshombe has been arrested on treason charges.

Holiday Threatened

PALM BEACH (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy's weekend holiday was threatened by interruptions.

Miami sources reported 50 carloads of Cuban mothers would arrive in Palm Beach tomorrow to ask the president for aid in battling Premier Fidel Castro.

Roger William Gantt, 19, of 7 Forrest Terrace, Fairfax, sliced off his first right toe with a chisel yesterday at his home while carving wood. Gantt, a marine stationed on the USS Ranger in San Francisco, was treated at Marin General Hospital and transferred to Oak Knoll Naval Hospital in Oakland.

Hub Father Asks $200,000 In Auto Death

A San Anselmo father of two infant children is seeking $200,000 damages for the traffic accident death of his wife near the Koch Luggage Co. in Corte Madera last March 10.

Laurence W. Fallon of 57 Jordan Avenue filed the suit in Marin Superior Court yesterday for himself and in behalf of his children, Thomas, 3, and Kelley Anne, 1. Named as defendants are the Ford Motor Co., Cirimele Ford Sales of Oakland, and the estate of Hugh David Harrington, 34, Kentfield engineer who was killed in the same crash. Several John Does are also among the defendants.

According to California Highway Patrolmen, Mrs. Loretta Fallon's brand new station wagon, southbound on Highway 101, hurtled across the divider strip and into Harrington's northbound car.

Fallon's suit contends that his wife was driving a brand new Falcon station wagon purchased from Cirimele Sales. It had been driven less than 600 miles.

The complaint alleges there must have been a defect in the manufacture of the station wagon, negligence in testing and inspection before delivery, and negligence on the part of Harrington for not avoiding the collision.

Mrs. Haseltine To Give Mother's Tea

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Tomorrow countless mothers will be honored at family gatherings and dinners. However, Mrs. June Shaw Haseltine of Ross will fete her mother, Mrs. Nelson Towne Shaw, on Tuesday. The affair will be a large tea at the Century Club. Also honored will be Mrs. Joseph Bernard McKeon. She and Mrs. Shaw, both San Franciscans, recently returned from a Mediterranean cruise.

A TRIP FOR MOTHER was given by Mrs. Thurlow Jaegeling of Larkspur. She and her mother, Mrs. Thomas McCracken flew to Philadelphia to visit relatives then to New York where Margaret Jaegling was born. They will complete their two and a half weeks' vacation where Margaret Jaegeling was also a celebration of Mrs. McCracken's birthday. Margaret and her husband, Dr. Thurlow Jaegeling recently returned from a week in Palm Springs.

MOTHER'S WEEKEND at University of Oregon in Eugene has taken many fathers as well as mothers to the northern campus. The John O'Connells, Edgar Lindners and Leon Smiths flew north yesterday. Judy O'Connell is in charge of the weekend events. Eric Lindner also attends the university and Susan Smith and Leon Smith Jr., students at Oregon State University, will join their parents at UO.

The Lindners will remain in Oregon to celebrate their 20th wedding anniversary at Village Green in Cottage Grove, about 20 miles from Eugene.

Mrs. Willard Hinkley, whose son Frank is a University of Oregon student, and Mrs. Charles Murray, whose son, Rusty, also attends the university drove north.

Harold Riede went north with his daughter, Judy, and son, Bob. The other son, Rick who is going into his sophomore year at UO, has just been elected vice president of his class.

Mrs. Smith was also in the north for Mother's Weekend, May 5, 6 and 7 at Oregon State University. Leon Jr. is a Sigma Nu there. Mrs. Lawrason Driscoll went up to see her son, Mike Watters, a Sigma Chi and member of the varsity football team. Mrs. Guy Ciocca visited with her son, Dennis, a Sigma Nu, who has just been elected Rally King at the university.

Mrs. Eugenie Latapie was met by her daughter, Liz, a Pi Phi, and her fiance, Mike Cole, both students at the university. A summer wedding is planned by the young couple. Mike will enter Boalt Hall of Law at University of California in the fall. Mrs. Latapie and Edie Cicota went north after the weekend festivities. Mrs. Latapie visited in Seattle and Edie went on to Bellingham, Wash., where she had lived during her sophomore year in high school, and to Victoria.

FOR HONG KONG after a week's visit with her parents, the Charles Denby Garvins of San Anselmo, Mrs. Theodore Osborne (Gloria Garvin) left by Pan American jet. She and her husband and two young daughters have lived in Hong Kong for the past two years. Mr. Osborne is the Far East manager for Gidding and Lewis of Fond du Lac, Wis., one of the world's largest machine tool manufacturers. Gloria says life in the British Crown Colony is most exciting and that it is truly the Paris of the Orient and "the crossroads of the world."

A FASCINATING and fascinated visitor in Marin this week was Colette de Jouvenal, daughter of the late great French novelist, Colette, author of "Gigi" and "Cheri." Mrs. de Jouvenal is in this country representing the French perfume industry as the guest of Harper's Bazaar. She came to Marin on Wednesday with Mrs. Gilbert Barker of Larkspur, known professionally as Jean Meek, who is doing fashion advertising, merchandising and promotion for the bazaar. Mrs. Barker, for more than five years, was a fashion reporter on the New York Herald Tribune. Mrs. Barker and her husband, who is with an electrical engineering firm, moved here recently from the East and live at 26 Elm Avenue.

Mrs. de Jouvenal, who has visited in six cities in the United States and was given a reception in Washington, D.C., attended by President Kennedy, fell in love with the Bay Area and thought Marin "just wonderful." On Tuesday San Francisco's acting mayor Harold Dobbs presented the distinguished visitor with "the key to the city" and the following morning with Mrs. Barker she was taken on a cruise of San Francisco Bay aboard Dan London's yacht Adventuress. For the cruise Mrs. de Jouvenal wore a beige woolen suit, a Dior coat, a reversible white and black woolen, a double chiffon tie veil on her haid and her pumps were the new Dior style with high arched heel.

Others in the party were Ruth McCarthy, fashion merchandising editor for Harper's Bazaar in New York City and Helene Obelensky, fashion coordinator and public relations adviser for Air France.

After a complete cruise of the bay in which the Adventuress went "as close as possible" to Alcatraz, the yacht docked in Tiburon and Mrs. Barker and her guests lunched at Sam's. Mrs. de Jouvenal left San Francisco Thursday to see Carmel and Monterey before she returns to the East. She is going back to her home in Paris to resume her work on her mother's writings and supervising theater and movie adaptions of her mother's books.

Mrs. de Jouvenal is also a writer and journalist. She was an active leader in the French Resistance during the war. She has studied fashion design and produced and directed films. She owns an antique shop. In addition she is collecting furnishings for her old chateau near Paris. She has several other homes in France.

A FASCINATING and fascinated visitor in Marin this week was Colette de Jouvenal, daughter of the late great French novelist, Colette, author of "Gigi" and "Cheri." Mrs. de Jouvenal is in this country representing the French perfume industry as the guest of Harper's Bazaar. She came to Marin on Wednesday with Mrs. Gilbert Barker of Larkspur, known professionally as Jean Meek, who is doing fashion advertising, merchandising and promotion for the bazaar. Mrs. Barker, for more than five years, was a fashion reporter on the New York Herald Tribune. Mrs. Barker and her husband, who is with an electrical engineering firm, moved here recently from the East and live at 26 Elm Avenue.

Mrs. de Jouvenal, who has visited in six cities in the United States and was given a reception in Washington, D.C., attended by President Kennedy, fell in love with the Bay Area and thought Marin "just wonderful." On Tuesday San Francisco's acting mayor Harold Dobbs presented the distinguished visitor with "the key to the city" and the following morning with Mrs. Barker she was taken on a cruise of San Francisco Bay aboard Dan London's yacht Adventuress. For the cruise Mrs. de Jouvenal wore a beige woolen suit, a Dior coat, a reversible white and black woolen, a double chiffon tie veil on her haid and her pumps were the new Dior style with high arched heel.

Others in the party were Ruth McCarthy, fashion merchandising editor for Harper's Bazaar in New York City and Helene Obelensky, fashion coordinator and public relations adviser for Air France.

After a complete cruise of the bay in which the Adventuress went "as close as possible" to Alcatraz, the yacht docked in Tiburon and Mrs. Barker and her guests lunched at Sam's. Mrs. de Jouvenal left San Francisco Thursday to see Carmel and Monterey before she returns to the East. She is going back to her home in Paris to resume her work on her mother's writings and supervising theater and movie adaptions of her mother's books.

Mrs. de Jouvenal is also a writer and journalist. She was an active leader in the French Resistance during the war. She has studied fashion design and produced and directed films. She owns an antique shop. In addition she is collecting furnishings for her old chateau near Paris. She has several other homes in France.

Marin Adopts Speeded Polio Shot Program

To give the greatest protection against polio during the coming summer and fall season, the Marin County Health Department has adopted a speeded up schedule of Salk shots, it was announced today by Dr. Mary Jo Tonelli, assistant health officer.

Under the new schedule the time interval between shots is reduced so that the second shot is given two weeks after the first, and the third is given one month after the second.

In this way persons who have not yet been protected can still get the essential three injections prior to the summer season when polio is most likely to strike. (The usual schedule requires eight months for completion of the three shots.)

The accelerated schedule has the endorsement of the State Department of Public Health and the Marin County Medical Society. The fourth shot is recommended for anyone who has had the third more than a year ago.

"Needless tragedy can be avoided," says Dr. Tonelli, "if the unprotected will seek vaccination against this crippling disease now, before the early summer start of the polio season."

Dr. Tonelli emphasized that people of all ages need this protection. "Polio is not only a disease of childhood and youth. People in their fifties and sixties are also victims of the disease and should have the protection of the Salk vaccine."

Polio immunizations are given at the health department, 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael. The shots are given daily, Monday through Friday from 1 to 4 p.m.

GOVERNOR WON'T PAY AFTER ALL

RENO (AP) — Gov. Grant Sawyer won't have to pay that $2 fine for parking in a restricted zone at the city airport after all — the city manager and airport manager will do it for him, with apologies.

"This area was designated for the governor's use," City Manager Joe Latimore said.

"We have asked the governor to accept our apoligies for having failed to inform the police of the special permit."

Patrolman Alden Barlow ticketed the governor's limousine Thursday night.

Ross Master Plan Passed

The Ross Town Council, sitting as a planning commission, approved the master plan of land use for the town after a second public hearing Thursday night.

The councilmen will consider the plan when they meet as a council May 25. A resolution accepting the plan probably will be introduced at that time.

About 25 persons attended last night's session.

The commission also introduced an ordinance changing the zoning at the top of Woodside Way from high-density, 6,000 square feet minimum lot sizes to low density one acre minimums. The area is undeveloped.

Junior Statesmen From Tam High To Attend Convention

Five California Junior Statesmen of America from Tamalpais High School will attend the regional convention of the organization today at Pleasant Hill, Contra Costa County.

They are Martin Stoye, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stoye of 140 Walnut Avenue, Mill Valley; Stephen Pendleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Pendleton of 312 Marin Avenue, Mill Valley; Jim Ortler, son of Maj. L. A. Ortler of Fort Baker; Bill Mosher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mosher III of 327 Robin Road, Mill Valley, and Carolyn McCarty, daughter of Mrs. Georgiana McCarty of 161 West Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley.

Ortler will present a resolution suggesting that all nuclear arms revert to the United Nations, and Pendleton a resolution asking that junior statesmen officially disapprove of the John Birch Society.

Library Unit Votes Some Fee Raises

Mill Valley library trustees Thursday night raised the nonresident fee for book borrowers from $5 to $6 per family per year.

The raise, effecting about 240 families, will be effective July 1.

A tentative budget of $49,964 was approved, an increase of $952 over this year's $49,012 budget.

The budget, to be adopted formally June 8 by the trustees, will be submitted to the city prior to that time, Mrs. Schlemmer said, to determine whether or not minimum wage legislation, recently passed, will effect the budget as it relates to the library's hourly part-time personnel. Pages are now paid $1 an hour, Mrs. Schlemmer said.

She added that the board announced it will submit a list of prospective trustees to Mayor Robert D. Huber in June to fill the vacancies of trustees Robert Randolph and herself, who will have completed three-year terms July 1 and do not seek reappointment.

Bay Area Growth

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The nine-county San Francisco Bay Area is adding residents at the rate of 7,900 a month. A study by the Golden Gate Authority Commission also shows that the area's population will be 7.4 million by 1990, exactly double the 3.7 million population in 1940.

California Wines Pass Stiff Test

LONDON (UPI)— California wines passed a stiff test with flying colors at a wine tasting in London's 500-year-old Vintner's Hall.

Sixty members of the London Guild of Sommeliers (wine butlers) said they were "pleasantly surprised" at their first taste of California wines.

Thirty Northern California wines were represented at the tasting, the first such ceremony for exclusively American wines in London.

"AGREEABLE"

President of the guild Peter Gordon Clark said he found the wines "clear, sound and agreeable."

He said he would not want to compare them with French or local vintages because "grapes grown in different soils will have completely different characters. We are trying to judge these on their own merits."

Some of the wines especially commented on were Almaden's Johannisberg Riesling as a "nice clean luncheon wine."

Buena Vista's Pinot Chardonnay for a "clean and pleasant taste."

"ENJOYABLE"

And Beaulieu's Beaufort Pinot Chardonnay, 1958, as "pleasantly dry with a slightly acid bite which is very enjoyable."

The white wines were generally preferred to the red as being "fresh and crisp."

G. W. Thoman, sole British importer of California wines, said the only real difficulty in creating a large market for the wines in Britain was the price. Duty and freight bring retail costs to $2.45 per bottle, he said, where a comparable French or local and commonwealth wine costs only $1.40 or less.

Sausalito Forum On City's Future

The Sausalito Citizens Council will hold three "town forum" civic meetings at the IDESST Hall at 511 Caledonia Street on "The Future of Sausalito—As I See It."

Adapted from the series of the same name by the Sausalito Rotary Club, the first meeting will be at 8 p.m. May 18 with the Mayor Philip S. Ehrlich speaking on city developments. Other meetings will be at the same time and location on June 1 and June 15.

Prior to Ehrlich's talk May 18, election of directors will be held at the council's annual meeting. Carl Gabrielson, Fred Sumner, incumbents; Mrs. Charles Finney; Mrs. Charles Ksanda and Sam Weinstein have been nominated to fill five vacancies.

APPOINTED MANAGER — Stanley T. Hamilton, 110 Holmes Avenue, Santa Venetia, has been named special products manager for Hills Brothers Coffee, Inc., involving vending and institutional sales. Hamilton has been associated with the firm since 1950, both as a sales representative and as an administrative assistant.

Guide Dogs Seeks Stand On Bridge

Guide Dogs for the Blind in San Rafael would like the Golden Gate Bridge to allow a blind concessionaire to operate a vending stand at the Marin end of the bridge.

The bridge directors yesterday received a letter from Mrs. Pat Jones, Guide Dogs public relations director, suggesting the old pedestrian toll house at the Marin end could be made into a vending stand for sale of film, post cards, refreshments, and cigarettes, operated by a blind person.

Part of the building is not now being used because the bridge no longer charges toll for pedestrians walking from the Marin side.

The proposal was referred to the district building and operating committee.

Russian Newsmen Chide U.S.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Touring Russian journalists have chided the United States for "producing skeptics" while the Soviet Union was "producing sputniks."

The newsmen took heated exception to the suggestion that Russian cosomnaut Yuri Gagarin was second in space behind Vladmir Ilyushin, son of a rpominent Soviet airplane designer.

Aleksei B. Romanov said it was known in Russia that Ilyushin was injured in a 1960 automobile accident and has been partially disabled since that time.

"They asked us to produce Ilyushin to prove it wasn't true," Romanov said, "but he is working as a climate technician in China. We did get a cable from him disproving the story."

Romanov, an observer for Soviet Press, official publication of the Union of Soviet Journalists, said he believed "it is generally accepted in this country and Russia that Gargarin was the first."

Victor V. Maevsky, head of Pravda's American and foreign department, charged that "many so-called intelligent people in this country don't understand Russia or her people."

"I don't blame them," he said, "some of the facts may be hidden by the press or publications here, or maybe the schools and colleges ignore it. That is one reason why we are here. To let the people know the facts."

Building Code Gets Going-Over

The Marin County of Marin Board of Appeals discussed proposed revisions in the 1961 Building Code draft Thursday night without reaching a final conclusion, Chief Building Inspector Otto H. Meyer reported today.

The next meeting to continue discussion of the building code will be held in mid-June.

The board of appeals decided to ask the state fire marshal for advice on an appeal by the Presbyterian Church of Santa Venetia. The church wants an exception to the building code requirements on fire retardant roof covering. The board of appeals decided it would accept any recommendation the fire marshal makes.

Judge Asks Pay Raises For Clerks

A letter from judges of the municipal court asking increases in the salaries of County Clerk George S. Jones and his deputies will be considered by the Marin County Board of Supervisors Monday afternoon.

Signed by Presiding Judge Leonard A. Thomas and his associates, the letter points out that Jones didn't receive the $25 monthly cost of living increase of last year.

The judges propose that the clerk's pay be established at Range 32 which starts at $770 and goes by steps to $930.

Though the deputy clerks got last year's $25 boost these raises are due to lapse and the board is asked to approve a permanent raise at that level.

A letter is going in from the county administrator on this request.

Other communications include support of the 53,000-acre size for the proposed Point Reyes national seashore, a letter from the county counsel on lease procedure about the senior citizens' center proposed for the civic center, a letter from the Employees' Retirement Assn. concerning a vacancy on the retirement board the question of a school crossing guard at Wolfe Grade and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

NAACP Meeting

The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People of Marin City will discuss a membership drive at a meeting at 8 p.m., May 19 at the Village Chapel, according to President Edward T. Anderson.

Gallinas Village Annexation Survey Would Cost $1,500

Cost of $1,500 will be involved for a survey of the Gallinas Village Community Services District as preliminary to its possible annexation to the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District, engineer J. Warren Nute reported to the board of the sanitary district Thursday night.

Just who should pay, and how, will be threshed out at an early meeting of the two boards, the sanitary district directors decided.

The service district facilities are at present overloaded by service to 485 homes. This precludes serving any more customers and revenue is lacking for needed improvements, its board says.

But the sanitary district says that a survey of all lines, plant and the two pumping stations of the service district must be made before a deal can be set up.

4-H Club Elects New Officers

Other new officers are Fred Rodoni, vice president; Dolores Grossi, secretary; Virginia Rogers, treasurer; David McIsaac, sergeant at arms; Charles Kovats, reporter, and Susan Clapp and Linda Horick, song leaders.

The councilmen will consider the plan when they meet as a council May 25. A resolution accepting the plan probably will be introduced at that time.

About 25 persons attended last night's session.

The commission also introduced an ordinance changing the zoning at the top of Woodside Way from high-density, 6,000 square feet minimum lot sizes to low density one acre minimums. The area is undeveloped.

Junior Statesmen From Tam High To Attend Convention

Five California Junior Statesmen of America from Tamalpais High School will attend the regional convention of the organization today at Pleasant Hill, Contra Costa County.

They are Martin Stoye, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stoye of 140 Walnut Avenue, Mill Valley; Stephen Pendleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Pendleton of 312 Marin Avenue, Mill Valley; Jim Ortler, son of Maj. L. A. Ortler of Fort Baker; Bill Mosher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mosher III of 327 Robin Road, Mill Valley, and Carolyn McCarty, daughter of Mrs. Georgiana McCarty of 161 West Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley.

Ortler will present a resolution suggesting that all nuclear arms revert to the United Nations, and Pendleton a resolution asking that junior statesmen officially disapprove of the John Birch Society.

Library Unit Votes Some Fee Raises

Mill Valley library trustees Thursday night raised the nonresident fee for book borrowers from $5 to $6 per family per year.

The raise, effecting about 240 families, will be effective July 1.

A tentative budget of $49,964 was approved, an increase of $952 over this year's $49,012 budget.

The budget, to be adopted formally June 8 by the trustees, will be submitted to the city prior to that time, Mrs. Schlemmer said, to determine whether or not minimum wage legislation, recently passed, will effect the budget as it relates to the library's hourly part-time personnel. Pages are now paid $1 an hour, Mrs. Schlemmer said.

She added that the board announced it will submit a list of prospective trustees to Mayor Robert D. Huber in June to fill the vacancies of trustees Robert Randolph and herself, who will have completed three-year terms July 1 and do not seek reappointment.

Bay Area Growth

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The nine-county San Francisco Bay Area is adding residents at the rate of 7,900 a month. A study by the Golden Gate Authority Commission also shows that the area's population will be 7.4 million by 1990, exactly double the 3.7 million population in 1940.

California Wines Pass Stiff Test

LONDON (UPI)— California wines passed a stiff test with flying colors at a wine tasting in London's 500-year-old Vintner's Hall.

Sixty members of the London Guild of Sommeliers (wine butlers) said they were "pleasantly surprised" at their first taste of California wines.

Thirty Northern California wines were represented at the tasting, the first such ceremony for exclusively American wines in London.

"AGREEABLE"

President of the guild Peter Gordon Clark said he found the wines "clear, sound and agreeable."

He said he would not want to compare them with French or local vintages because "grapes grown in different soils will have completely different characters. We are trying to judge these on their own merits."

Some of the wines especially commented on were Almaden's Johannisberg Riesling as a "nice clean luncheon wine."

Buena Vista's Pinot Chardonnay for a "clean and pleasant taste."

"ENJOYABLE"

And Beaulieu's Beaufort Pinot Chardonnay, 1958, as "pleasantly dry with a slightly acid bite which is very enjoyable."

The white wines were generally preferred to the red as being "fresh and crisp."

G. W. Thoman, sole British importer of California wines, said the only real difficulty in creating a large market for the wines in Britain was the price. Duty and freight bring retail costs to $2.45 per bottle, he said, where a comparable French or local and commonwealth wine costs only $1.40 or less.

Sausalito Forum On City's Future

The Sausalito Citizens Council will hold three "town forum" civic meetings at the IDESST Hall at 511 Caledonia Street on "The Future of Sausalito—As I See It."

Adapted from the series of the same name by the Sausalito Rotary Club, the first meeting will be at 8 p.m. May 18 with the Mayor Philip S. Ehrlich speaking on city developments. Other meetings will be at the same time and location on June 1 and June 15.

Prior to Ehrlich's talk May 18, election of directors will be held at the council's annual meeting. Carl Gabrielson, Fred Sumner, incumbents; Mrs. Charles Finney; Mrs. Charles Ksanda and Sam Weinstein have been nominated to fill five vacancies.

APPOINTED MANAGER — Stanley T. Hamilton, 110 Holmes Avenue, Santa Venetia, has been named special products manager for Hills Brothers Coffee, Inc., involving vending and institutional sales. Hamilton has been associated with the firm since 1950, both as a sales representative and as an administrative assistant.

Guide Dogs Seeks Stand On Bridge

Guide Dogs for the Blind in San Rafael would like the Golden Gate Bridge to allow a blind concessionaire to operate a vending stand at the Marin end of the bridge.

The bridge directors yesterday received a letter from Mrs. Pat Jones, Guide Dogs public relations director, suggesting the old pedestrian toll house at the Marin end could be made into a vending stand for sale of film, post cards, refreshments, and cigarettes, operated by a blind person.

Part of the building is not now being used because the bridge no longer charges toll for pedestrians walking from the Marin side.

The proposal was referred to the district building and operating committee.

3 Win Honors At Dominican

Three Dominican Convent Upper School students have won honors in the national French contest sponsored by the American Assn. of Teachers of French.

The Prix Special du Chapitre de la California du Nord was awarded to Marie Bertolli, French first year division; Catharine Atterbury, second year French, and Susan Hall, third year French.

Their instructor is Mrs. Marie Davis of the Dominican French department.

Russian Newsmen Chide U.S.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Touring Russian journalists have chided the United States for "producing skeptics" while the Soviet Union was "producing sputniks."

The newsmen took heated exception to the suggestion that Russian cosomnaut Yuri Gagarin was second in space behind Vladmir Ilyushin, son of a rpominent Soviet airplane designer.

Aleksei B. Romanov said it was known in Russia that Ilyushin was injured in a 1960 automobile accident and has been partially disabled since that time.

"They asked us to produce Ilyushin to prove it wasn't true," Romanov said, "but he is working as a climate technician in China. We did get a cable from him disproving the story."

Romanov, an observer for Soviet Press, official publication of the Union of Soviet Journalists, said he believed "it is generally accepted in this country and Russia that Gargarin was the first."

Victor V. Maevsky, head of Pravda's American and foreign department, charged that "many so-called intelligent people in this country don't understand Russia or her people."

"I don't blame them," he said, "some of the facts may be hidden by the press or publications here, or maybe the schools and colleges ignore it. That is one reason why we are here. To let the people know the facts."

Building Code Gets Going-Over

The Marin County of Marin Board of Appeals discussed proposed revisions in the 1961 Building Code draft Thursday night without reaching a final conclusion, Chief Building Inspector Otto H. Meyer reported today.

The next meeting to continue discussion of the building code will be held in mid-June.

The board of appeals decided to ask the state fire marshal for advice on an appeal by the Presbyterian Church of Santa Venetia. The church wants an exception to the building code requirements on fire retardant roof covering. The board of appeals decided it would accept any recommendation the fire marshal makes.

Judge Asks Pay Raises For Clerks

A letter from judges of the municipal court asking increases in the salaries of County Clerk George S. Jones and his deputies will be considered by the Marin County Board of Supervisors Monday afternoon.

Signed by Presiding Judge Leonard A. Thomas and his associates, the letter points out that Jones didn't receive the $25 monthly cost of living increase of last year.

The judges propose that the clerk's pay be established at Range 32 which starts at $770 and goes by steps to $930.

Though the deputy clerks got last year's $25 boost these raises are due to lapse and the board is asked to approve a permanent raise at that level.

A letter is going in from the county administrator on this request.

Other communications include support of the 53,000-acre size for the proposed Point Reyes national seashore, a letter from the county counsel on lease procedure about the senior citizens' center proposed for the civic center, a letter from the Employees' Retirement Assn. concerning a vacancy on the retirement board the question of a school crossing guard at Wolfe Grade and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

NAACP Meeting

The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People of Marin City will discuss a membership drive at a meeting at 8 p.m., May 19 at the Village Chapel, according to President Edward T. Anderson.

Gallinas Village Annexation Survey Would Cost $1,500

Cost of $1,500 will be involved for a survey of the Gallinas Village Community Services District as preliminary to its possible annexation to the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District, engineer J. Warren Nute reported to the board of the sanitary district Thursday night.

Just who should pay, and how, will be threshed out at an early meeting of the two boards, the sanitary district directors decided.

The service district facilities are at present overloaded by service to 485 homes. This precludes serving any more customers and revenue is lacking for needed improvements, its board says.

But the sanitary district says that a survey of all lines, plant and the two pumping stations of the service district must be made before a deal can be set up.

Other new officers are Fred Rodoni, vice president; Dolores Grossi, secretary; Virginia Rogers, treasurer; David McIsaac, sergeant at arms; Charles Kovats, reporter, and Susan Clapp and Linda Horick, song leaders.

Marin Track Title Still Uncertain; Bulldogs Trail

Marin Athletic League's track and field championship in Class A was literally up in the air today following last night's finals at San Rafael High School.

An unlighted area around the pole vault pit forced postponement of that event until today and San Rafael's vaulting team was placed under pressure. San Rafael, favored to win the title, trailed Tamalpais 31½ to 38 1/6 after all events but the pole vault were tabulated. That meant the Bulldogs must win first and second or first and third places in today's vaulting to overcome Tam's margin.

The Tamites, straining every muscle to give retiring coach Glidden Benefield a going-away championship, were spearheaded by the speedy Lonnie Carter who won both sprints, setting a league record of 10 seconds flat in the 100-yard dash and also picking up five valuable first place points in the 220. In both cases he beat Drake's Bill Collins, who last week turned in the best times in the trial.

The Class A competition's only other double winner was San Rafael's Dennis Nickel in the shot and discus. His 49-foot, 4¼-inch shot put set a new league record. He won the discus at 131-8½.

San Rafael's Jay Lathrop and Tam's relay team accounted for the other Class A records. Lathrop ran the mile in 4 minutes, 36.1 seconds to shave three-tenths of a second off the mark he set in last week's trials.

Tam's fleet foursome of Carter, Paul Warne, Jack Lundahl and Pat Morgan ran the half mile relay at 1:33.8 for the record.

The meet produced its upsets, too. Drake's Dave Miller handed Marin Catholic hurdles ace Rich Ongaro his first loss of the season in the 180 low barriers in the time of 20.6 seconds. Ongaro won the highs as expected in 15.7.

Another surprise was the 880 in which Redwood's Randy Keller and Novato's Terry Buettner both edged out the favored Bill Andrewsen of San Rafael, costing the Bulldogs valuable points. Keller won it in 2:07.2.

More damage hurt the favored Bulldogs in the 440, too, when Novato's Jim Sewell and Tam's Warne placed one-two ahead of San Rafael's Mike Shafer, who set a league record of 51.9 last week. Sewell won it last night in 52.2.

Tam's Sam Helms won the broad jump at 20 feet, 6¼ inches. His teammate Jim Mitchelle, who set a league record of 20-8 last week, was ineligible last night.

Varsity scores, minus pole vault results, are Tam 38 1/6, San Rafael 31 ½, Drake 23, Novato 19 ⅓, Marin Catholic 12 and Redwood 8.

San Rafael's Class B team made up for its varsity's failures by upsetting Tam for the championship. San Rafael had 48½ points to Tam's 45½. Others were Drake 25, Novato 11, Marin 7 and Redwood 6.

Tam's Ellis Williams won three events and set two records. See summary.

San Rafael's Class C team, paced by triple winner Bob Olson, also won its class championship with 27 ⅔ points to Drake's 23 ½ and Tam's 22½. Others were Marin and Novato each with 8½ and Redwood with 8⅓.

Spahn Beats Giants Again; S.F. League Lead Trimmed

Warren Spahn, the man who does everything, makes it look easier than it is.

The 40-year-old southpaw ace of the Milwaukee Braves, one of the finest pitchers in baseball history, beat San Francisco 5-4 last night at Candlestick Park.

Spahn's 292nd National League victory dropped the Giants into a virtual tie with Los Angeles for the league lead. San Francisco is just 18 percentage points ahead of the Dodgers.

Right-hander Juan Marichal (2-1) was to pitch today against Brave right-hander Bob Buhl (1-2).

Two weeks ago, Spahn pitched a no-hitter against the Giants, beating 'em 1-0.

A crowd of 35,046 welcomed the Giants home from a fine road trip and anticipated another pitching duel between Spahn and Sam Jones, the loser in Spahn's no-hitter in Milwaukee.

The pitching duel didn't materialize but the crowd got a thriller anyhow, dominated by Spahn.

Jones was knocked out in the fourth inning and was followed by Stu Miller, Jim Duffalo and Billy O'Dell.

Every time the Giants appeared to have Spahn on the ropes, he got just a bit tougher.

Four times to got Giant batters to hit back to him for inning-ending outs—each time with runners on base.

After the game he sipped a beer and said, "The big thing was winning. I pitched just the way I always pitch."

"It was actually easier at the end. The wind died down. For the first five innings I could hardly see the plate, there was so much dust blowing in my eyes."

Hank Aaron (No. 4) and Lee Maye (No. 1) hit homers off Jones, the losing pitcher who is now 3-2. But it was Ed Mathew's second homer of the year, clouted in the ninth inning off O'Dell, that gave Spahn his fourth win against two losses.

Mathews' shot made it 5-3. Giant Orlando Cepeda brought it to 5-4 when he led off the bottom of the ninth with his sixth homer of the season. Spahn just shrugged and retired the next three Giants.

5-Cent Part Caused Death Of Driver

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Tony Bettenhausen, 44, whose greatest ambition was to win the richest of all auto races, died because a nickel's worth of wire broke on a car he was testing for a friend at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Bettenhausen was killed instantly when the roaring racer hurtled into a wall and burst into flames yesterday.

Speedway officials said the cause of his death was a cotter-pin worth about five cents. The sheared pin let a bolt fall, and when the idol of American auto speed fans stepped on the brakes, the axle twisted, flinging the car into the outside retaining wall on the northwest turn.

Bettenhausen, of Tinley Park, Ill., was dead when guards fought their way through horrified fans to where the smashed car hung wrapped in wire atop the wall.

It was his 29th wreck in a race car. The first was in his first race at Chicago 23 years ago. In 28 of those crashes he was upside down.

The stocky little Dutchman's death came while his own car, with which he hoped to break records at today's time trials for the 500-mile Memorial Day race was sitting in a speedway garage.

He was testing a car for his long-time friend Paul Russo of Fortville, Ind. He had turned in several laps at 145 miles an hour in the car, the Stearly Special, and had slowed down as though he planned to come into the pits.

A few hours before, Bettenhausen had expressed confidence in getting the pole position—a prize for the fastest qualifier on the first day of trials—for his 17th try at winning the 500. He also believed he would turn the first 160 m.p.h. lap ever recorded at the speedway.

"Tony said he had a good car this year and could realize his ambition of finally winning the 500," said a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Pat Bettenhausen of Tinley Park.

Only Wednesday, Tony had turned in a 149.245 lap—the fastest ever recorded in traffic on the 2½-mile brick and asphalt track.

Sub Pitches One-Hitter For Tamites

Dave Perlis, used mainly as an outfielder for Tamalpais High School, made his debut as a Marin Athletic League starting pitcher in spectacular fashion yesterday by pitching a one-hitter as the Indians blanked Marin Catholic's Wildcats 3-0 in Mill Valley.

His bid for a no-hitter was spoiled by Stan McGinnis, ninth man in the Wildcats' batting order. McGinnis grounded a single up the middle in the third inning, the ball barely eluding the glove of shortstop Bob Melbern.

Perlis, a junior right hander, has seen limited pitching for the Indians because of control problems. However, yesterday he walked only two batters and hit one with a pitched ball. He struck out five.

ONLY TWO HITS

Perlis had to be sharp because his teammates were having problems solving the slants of Marin's Frank Burch and reliever Jerry DeRosa. They allowed only two hits, one each by Russ Adams and Butch Herr.

Ed "Chip" Collins opened Tam's scoring in the first by walking, stealing second and moving to third on an error, finally scoring on a wild pitch.

Tam made it 2-0 in the second inning when Herr Melbern and Steve Long all walked and Herr scored on a ground out by Mike Maguire. Tam's final tally came in the sixth when Collins walked with the bases loaded to score Long.

Tam, with a 6-2 record behind San Rafael's league-leading 7-1 pace, tackle the leaders at Mill Valley next Tuesday in the big game of the year.

In yesterday's game Collins' run in the first inning was his 14th of the season, breaking the league record of 13.

Mrs. Gordon Wardlaw with a net score of 70 won the Marin Golf Club's "Tray Day" tournament Thursday.

Class A — Mrs. William Weeks 80; Mrs. C. D. Matlock, 82; Mrs. Meyer Schwartz, Mrs. Robert Vannucci, 83 each.

Class B — Mrs. Henry Brocco, 80; Mrs. Scott Graham, 82; tie—Mrs. T. E. Morrison, Mrs. Herb Prodger and Mrs. Leo Ross, each 84.

In low putts competition Mrs. Mel Bleadon and Mrs. William Zavosky tied with 31 each.

S.R. Erupts For Big Win Over Novato '9'

Faced with a 5-0 deficit after the first three innings and their Marin Athletic League at stake, San Rafael High School's Bulldogs came storming back to post a 10-7 victory over the Novato Hornets yesterday at Novato.

A booming fourth inning home run by Jim Costello touched off San Rafael's explosion and the Bulldogs followed it up by scoring four runs in the fifth inning and five more in the sixth.

Catcher Gary Ledson with a double and Rich Curry, Tom Williams and Costello each drove in a run in the fifth inning.

The Bulldogs, however, still trailed by a run, 5-6 going into the sixth inning when they settled the issue with a five-run outburst. Doubles by Billy Roberts and Tom Mork, a single by Mike Osborne, an error and two walks highlighted the parade.

EARLY LEAD

Novato jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first inning when Joe Colfer singled and scored on a double by Joe Jones. The latter advanced to third on a ground out and then stole home.

A weird situation in the third inning sent Novato out to a 5-0 lead. Singles by Colfer and Willard and an error loaded the bases and slugger Lu Haas came to bat. Then three passed balls permitted all three base runners to score. Haas eventually struck out.

Novato picked up solo runs in the fifth and seventh innings.

San Rafael's Dennis Hall went the distance on the mound to post San Rafael's seventh victory against only one loss, keeping the Bulldogs one game ahead of Tamalpais going into next Tuesday's showdown at Mill Valley.

Novato's Colfer with three hits was the big hitter of the day. Costello led San Rafael with two blows.

ARD, GEMINIANI STAR

Drake Edges Redwood In Cliffhanger, 4-3

Shortstop Jerry Ard's clutch single in the seventh inning and a great relief pitching job by Nino Geminiani carried the Drake Pirates to a 4-3 Marin Athletic League cliff-hanger victory over the Redwood Giants yesterday afternoon at Alberts Park, San Rafael.

Ard's single broke a 3-3 deadlock when it scored Sam Johnson with the winning run in the tension-packed seventh frame. Johnson had singled and stolen second.

However, more dramatics were still to come in Redwood's half of the seventh. Pinch-batter Jim Troppmann led off with a double, so Drake Coach Verle Sorgen lifted starter Stan Chapman and called in Geminiani, ace of the staff. Pinch-runner Joe Ramos was nailed out at third base on a fielder's choice off the bat of Don Simon and then Geminiani got Bob Jordan to ground into a game-ending double play.

The victory kept Drake's title hopes alive. The Pirates have a 5-3 won-lost record, two games behind San Rafael (7-1) with only two games to play. Drake's best hope now is a tie for the title.

'Roadblock' Jones Goes To Redlegs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Cincinnati Reds today acquired relief pitcher Sherman (Roadblock) Jones from San Francisco to close out the deal by which the Giants landed catcher Ed Bailey.

Jones, a 25-year-old right hander, had a 1-1 record with San Francisco last year and had posted the same mark this spring at Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

NOGALES, Sonoro, Mexico — Archie Moore, 185, San Diego, knocked out Clifford "Killer" Gray, 220, Los Angeles, 4. Non-title.

Marin Track Title Still Uncertain; Bulldogs Trail

Marin Athletic League's track and field championship in Class A was literally up in the air today following last night's finals at San Rafael High School.

An unlighted area around the pole vault pit forced postponement of that event until today and San Rafael's vaulting team was placed under pressure. San Rafael, favored to win the title, trailed Tamalpais 31½ to 38 1/6 after all events but the pole vault were tabulated. That meant the Bulldogs must win first and second or first and third places in today's vaulting to overcome Tam's margin.

The Tamites, straining every muscle to give retiring coach Glidden Benefield a going-away championship, were spearheaded by the speedy Lonnie Carter who won both sprints, setting a league record of 10 seconds flat in the 100-yard dash and also picking up five valuable first place points in the 220. In both cases he beat Drake's Bill Collins, who last week turned in the best times in the trial.

The Class A competition's only other double winner was San Rafael's Dennis Nickel in the shot and discus. His 49-foot, 4¼-inch shot put set a new league record. He won the discus at 131-8½.

San Rafael's Jay Lathrop and Tam's relay team accounted for the other Class A records. Lathrop ran the mile in 4 minutes, 36.1 seconds to shave three-tenths of a second off the mark he set in last week's trials.

Tam's fleet foursome of Carter, Paul Warne, Jack Lundahl and Pat Morgan ran the half mile relay at 1:33.8 for the record.

The meet produced its upsets, too. Drake's Dave Miller handed Marin Catholic hurdles ace Rich Ongaro his first loss of the season in the 180 low barriers in the time of 20.6 seconds. Ongaro won the highs as expected in 15.7.

Another surprise was the 880 in which Redwood's Randy Keller and Novato's Terry Buettner both edged out the favored Bill Andrewsen of San Rafael, costing the Bulldogs valuable points. Keller won it in 2:07.2.

More damage hurt the favored Bulldogs in the 440, too, when Novato's Jim Sewell and Tam's Warne placed one-two ahead of San Rafael's Mike Shafer, who set a league record of 51.9 last week. Sewell won it last night in 52.2.

Tam's Sam Helms won the broad jump at 20 feet, 6¼ inches. His teammate Jim Mitchelle, who set a league record of 20-8 last week, was ineligible last night.

Varsity scores, minus pole vault results, are Tam 38 1/6, San Rafael 31 ½, Drake 23, Novato 19 ⅓, Marin Catholic 12 and Redwood 8.

San Rafael's Class B team made up for its varsity's failures by upsetting Tam for the championship. San Rafael had 48½ points to Tam's 45½. Others were Drake 25, Novato 11, Marin 7 and Redwood 6.

Tam's Ellis Williams won three events and set two records. See summary.

San Rafael's Class C team, paced by triple winner Bob Olson, also won its class championship with 27 ⅔ points to Drake's 23 ½ and Tam's 22½. Others were Marin and Novato each with 8½ and Redwood with 8⅓.

Sub Pitches One-Hitter For Tamites

Dave Perlis, used mainly as an outfielder for Tamalpais High School, made his debut as a Marin Athletic League starting pitcher in spectacular fashion yesterday by pitching a one-hitter as the Indians blanked Marin Catholic's Wildcats 3-0 in Mill Valley.

In yesterday's game Collins' run in the first inning was his 14th of the season, breaking the league record of 13.

Drake Edges Redwood In Cliffhanger, 4-3

Shortstop Jerry Ard's clutch single in the seventh inning and a great relief pitching job by Nino Geminiani carried the Drake Pirates to a 4-3 Marin Athletic League cliff-hanger victory over the Redwood Giants yesterday afternoon at Alberts Park, San Rafael.

Ard's single broke a 3-3 deadlock when it scored Sam Johnson with the winning run in the tension-packed seventh frame. Johnson had singled and stolen second.

5-Cent Part Caused Death Of Driver

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Tony Bettenhausen, 44, whose greatest ambition was to win the richest of all auto races, died because a nickel's worth of wire broke on a car he was testing for a friend at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Bettenhausen was killed instantly when the roaring racer hurtled into a wall and burst into flames yesterday.

Speedway officials said the cause of his death was a cotter-pin worth about five cents. The sheared pin let a bolt fall, and when the idol of American auto speed fans stepped on the brakes, the axle twisted, flinging the car into the outside retaining wall on the northwest turn.

Bettenhausen, of Tinley Park, Ill., was dead when guards fought their way through horrified fans to where the smashed car hung wrapped in wire atop the wall.

It was his 29th wreck in a race car. The first was in his first race at Chicago 23 years ago. In 28 of those crashes he was upside down.

The stocky little Dutchman's death came while his own car, with which he hoped to break records at today's time trials for the 500-mile Memorial Day race was sitting in a speedway garage.

He was testing a car for his long-time friend Paul Russo of Fortville, Ind. He had turned in several laps at 145 miles an hour in the car, the Stearly Special, and had slowed down as though he planned to come into the pits.

A few hours before, Bettenhausen had expressed confidence in getting the pole position—a prize for the fastest qualifier on the first day of trials—for his 17th try at winning the 500. He also believed he would turn the first 160 m.p.h. lap ever recorded at the speedway.

"Tony said he had a good car this year and could realize his ambition of finally winning the 500," said a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Pat Bettenhausen of Tinley Park.

Only Wednesday, Tony had turned in a 149.245 lap—the fastest ever recorded in traffic on the 2½-mile brick and asphalt track.

Spahn Beats Giants Again; S.F. League Lead Trimmed

Warren Spahn, the man who does everything, makes it look easier than it is.

The 40-year-old southpaw ace of the Milwaukee Braves, one of the finest pitchers in baseball history, beat San Francisco 5-4 last night at Candlestick Park.

Spahn's 292nd National League victory dropped the Giants into a virtual tie with Los Angeles for the league lead. San Francisco is just 18 percentage points ahead of the Dodgers.

Right-hander Juan Marichal (2-1) was to pitch today against Brave right-hander Bob Buhl (1-2).

Two weeks ago, Spahn pitched a no-hitter against the Giants, beating 'em 1-0.

A crowd of 35,046 welcomed the Giants home from a fine road trip and anticipated another pitching duel between Spahn and Sam Jones, the loser in Spahn's no-hitter in Milwaukee.

The pitching duel didn't materialize but the crowd got a thriller anyhow, dominated by Spahn.

Jones was knocked out in the fourth inning and was followed by Stu Miller, Jim Duffalo and Billy O'Dell.

Every time the Giants appeared to have Spahn on the ropes, he got just a bit tougher.

Four times to got Giant batters to hit back to him for inning-ending outs—each time with runners on base.

After the game he sipped a beer and said, "The big thing was winning. I pitched just the way I always pitch."

"It was actually easier at the end. The wind died down. For the first five innings I could hardly see the plate, there was so much dust blowing in my eyes."

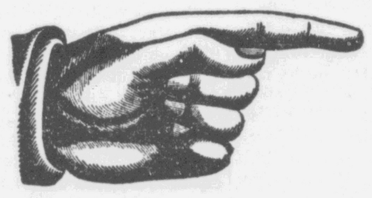

Hank Aaron (No. 4) and Lee Maye (No. 1) hit homers off Jones, the losing pitcher who is now 3-2. But it was Ed Mathew's second homer of the year, clouted in the ninth inning off O'Dell, that gave Spahn his fourth win against two losses.

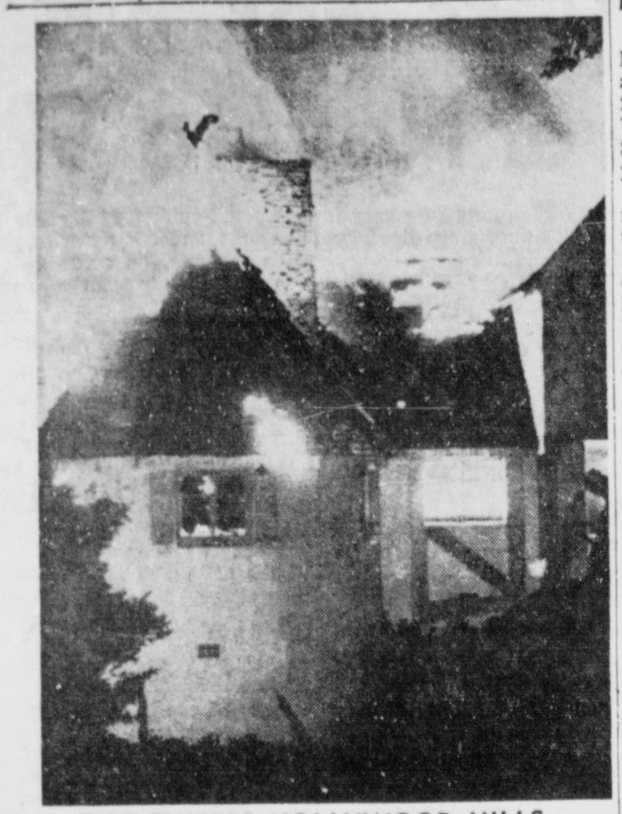

Mathews' shot made it 5-3. Giant Orlando Cepeda brought it to 5-4 when he led off the bottom of the ninth with his sixth homer of the season. Spahn just shrugged and retired the next three Giants.

"I cannot comment on the rest of his charges. It is a matter for the courts to decide," Nelson said.

Permit For Barge Asked By Marinite

A Mill Valley man who operates a sport fishing vessel out of Richmond wants to anchor permanently a live-bait receiver and sport-fishing barge off Red Rock in San Rrancisco Bay near the San Rafael-Richmond Bridge.

C. W. Partridge of 223 East Strawberry Drive, Mill Valley, has applied for a Department of the Army permit for the project.

A regular water taxi service to the barge from Richmond probably will be operated, Partridge said. He noted that to his knowledge, live bait has never been fished in this area on a commercial basis.

If the proposal goes through, the receiver would provide bait for Partridge's fishing vessel on its way out with sports fishermen.

The barge would be 30 by 80 feet and would be manned 24 hours a day.

Anyone objecting to the proposed project may file objections with the Army Corps of Engineers at 180 New Montgomery St., San Francisco, not later than June 9.

The engineers' decision to grant the permit is based primarily on the effects of the proposal on navigation.

not have testified against the man during the divorce; she had made a mistake in doing so.

The two psychiatrists called to the stand were Jean L. Pouteau of San Rafael and Russell Gould of Agnew State Hospital.

Dr. Pouteau had examined Aldeguer after the stabbings at the request of prosecutor Garety. However, it was the defense who put the doctor on the stand yesterday.

Dr. Pouteau said he believes Aldeguer's behavior was "compulsive rather than calculated." Said Dr. Pouteau, "I do not believe this man is capable of realistic planning."

Dr. Gould, a prosecution witness, said he did not personally examine the defendant but on the basis of facts presented, he believes Aldeguer knew what he was doing. In reply to Garety's questioning, Dr. Gould said, "Yes, there is evidence he was capable of forming an intent to kill."

The fact that a man would go back a considerable distance to his car to grab a kniife before attacking is not consistent with "a sudden explosive action" that comes from pure compulsion, Dr. Gould explained.

Stay Of Execution Granted L.A. Slayer

Charles E. Brubaker, 40, who was scheduled to die in the San Quentin gas chamber Tuesday for two Los Angeles murders, was granted a stay of execution yesterday by the U.S. District Court of Appeals.

The appeals court order sent the case back to the U.S. District Court for further hearing on a writ of habeas corpus filed by Brubaker's attorneys.

A hearing will be held at 9:45 a.m. Monday before Chief District Judge Louis E. Goodman to determine whether Brubaker should be brought before the court for a hearing on his writ of habeas corpus.

Brubaker was sentenced to die for the murders of Mrs. Irene P. Morey, 40, and her nine-year-old son Craig on July 20, 1958.

The stay of execution means his death sentence has been delayed for at least a month, and possibly longer.

Brubaker's attorneys claim he was deprived of his constitutional rights because his defense by a public defender "was so inadaquate it amounted to a sham."

They also say Brabaker could not have formed the intent to murder required in a first-degree case because of brain damage resulting from an infant disease or auto accident, and because of intoxication.

Teen-Ager Hurt In Car Accident

Judith Toy Kern, 14, of 584 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael, received minor injuries in a two-car accident at 5 p.m. yesterday at Forbes Avenue west of Quarry Road, San Rafael.

Judith was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for minor abrasions, and released.

An Independent-Journal reporter suffred minor injuries last night when his car left the road and hit a tree in Mill Valley.

Carleton Williams of 1 Boardwalk, Larkspur, was treated in Marin General Hospital for a cut shin and bruised chest after his sports car crashed into a tree on the Corte Madera Grade.

Williams told Mill Valley police his car left the road and ran into a ditch. He said his wheels locked when the car came out of the ditch, forcing the vehicle into a tree.

Williams was released from the hospital after emergency treatment.

Mill Valley Quest For Harbor Loan Runs Into Delay

Mill Valley has encountered another delay in its quest for the development of its small craft harbor.

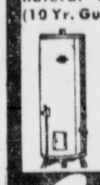

City Manager A. E. Almcrants said yesterday that the contract between the city, George Leo Zaro and Associated Dredging Co., sent two weeks ago to the State Small Craft Harbor Commission in Sacramento, has not been acted upon.

It will not be acted upon prior to Monday's meeting of the commission in Ventura and Hence will be put over to the June agenda when the commission meets in Stockton.

The agreement calls for Mill Valley to put up $25,000 and Zaro and Associated Dredging Co. to provide another $25,000 to qualify the city for a $300,000 state small craft harbor loan.

and petitioner will be very grateful to the court."

Louis Nelson, associate warden, said today that it is true that Falletich is on a special isolation diet but could not say for how long he has been on that diet.

"The isolation diet is a meatloaf with vegetables added, but without seasoning, and it is given to the inmate in sandwich form. This diet is fed to the inmate twice a day. It is a 2,500 calorie per day diet."

"I cannot comment on the rest of his charges. It is a matter for the courts to decide," Nelson said.

Permit For Barge Asked By Marinite

A Mill Valley man who operates a sport fishing vessel out of Richmond wants to anchor permanently a live-bait receiver and sport-fishing barge off Red Rock in San Rrancisco Bay near the San Rafael-Richmond Bridge.

C. W. Partridge of 223 East Strawberry Drive, Mill Valley, has applied for a Department of the Army permit for the project.

A regular water taxi service to the barge from Richmond probably will be operated, Partridge said. He noted that to his knowledge, live bait has never been fished in this area on a commercial basis.

If the proposal goes through, the receiver would provide bait for Partridge's fishing vessel on its way out with sports fishermen.

The barge would be 30 by 80 feet and would be manned 24 hours a day.

Anyone objecting to the proposed project may file objections with the Army Corps of Engineers at 180 New Montgomery St., San Francisco, not later than June 9.

The engineers' decision to grant the permit is based primarily on the effects of the proposal on navigation.

CONFLICT

not have testified against the man during the divorce; she had made a mistake in doing so.

The two psychiatrists called to the stand were Jean L. Pouteau of San Rafael and Russell Gould of Agnew State Hospital.

Dr. Pouteau had examined Aldeguer after the stabbings at the request of prosecutor Garety. However, it was the defense who put the doctor on the stand yesterday.

Dr. Pouteau said he believes Aldeguer's behavior was "compulsive rather than calculated." Said Dr. Pouteau, "I do not believe this man is capable of realistic planning."

Dr. Gould, a prosecution witness, said he did not personally examine the defendant but on the basis of facts presented, he believes Aldeguer knew what he was doing. In reply to Garety's questioning, Dr. Gould said, "Yes, there is evidence he was capable of forming an intent to kill."

The fact that a man would go back a considerable distance to his car to grab a knife before attacking is not consistent with "a sudden explosive action" that comes from pure compulsion, Dr. Gould explained.

Stay Of Execution Granted L.A. Slayer

Charles E. Brubaker, 40, who was scheduled to die in the San Quentin gas chamber Tuesday for two Los Angeles murders, was granted a stay of execution yesterday by the U.S. District Court of Appeals.

The appeals court order sent the case back to the U.S. District Court for further hearing on a writ of habeas corpus filed by Brubaker's attorneys.

A hearing will be held at 9:45 a.m. Monday before Chief District Judge Louis E. Goodman to determine whether Brubaker should be brought before the court for a hearing on his writ of habeas corpus.

Brubaker was sentenced to die for the murders of Mrs. Irene P. Morey, 40, and her nine-year-old son Craig on July 20, 1958.

The stay of execution means his death sentence has been delayed for at least a month, and possibly longer.

Brubaker's attorneys claim he was deprived of his constitutional rights because his defense by a public defender "was so inadaquate it amounted to a sham."

They also say Brabaker could not have formed the intent to murder required in a first-degree case because of brain damage resulting from an infant disease or auto accident, and because of intoxication.

Teen-Ager Hurt In Car Accident

Judith Toy Kern, 14, of 584 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael, received minor injuries in a two-car accident at 5 p.m. yesterday at Forbes Avenue west of Quarry Road, San Rafael.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Gary Clifton Sea, 17, of 24 Maywood Way, San Rafael, which hit a parked car belonging to Maybelle D. Nelson of San Francisco.

Judith was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for minor abrasions, and released.

Optometric Dinner

An official visit to the San Francisco and Marin Counties Optometric Society will be paid by Dr. Charles J. McDonald of San Jose, Central California trustee for the California Optometric Assn., at a dinner meeting Monday at the Marines Memorial Club in San Francisco.

Reporter Injured In Auto Crackup

An Independent-Journal reporter suffred minor injuries last night when his car left the road and hit a tree in Mill Valley.

Carleton Williams of 1 Boardwalk, Larkspur, was treated in Marin General Hospital for a cut shin and bruised chest after his sports car crashed into a tree on the Corte Madera Grade.

Williams told Mill Valley police his car left the road and ran into a ditch. He said his wheels locked when the car came out of the ditch, forcing the vehicle into a tree.

Williams was released from the hospital after emergency treatment.

Mill Valley Quest For Harbor Loan Runs Into Delay

Mill Valley has encountered another delay in its quest for the development of its small craft harbor.

City Manager A. E. Almcrants said yesterday that the contract between the city, George Leo Zaro and Associated Dredging Co., sent two weeks ago to the State Small Craft Harbor Commission in Sacramento, has not been acted upon.

It will not be acted upon prior to Monday's meeting of the commission in Ventura and Hence will be put over to the June agenda when the commission meets in Stockton.

The agreement calls for Mill Valley to put up $25,000 and Zaro and Associated Dredging Co. to provide another $25,000 to qualify the city for a $300,000 state small craft harbor loan.

Petting By Teen-Agers Can Lead To Consequences That Are Disastrous

"What should I tell my daughter?" a mother asks. "She is 15, and going out on her first dates.

"Her boy friend comes from a nice family. My girl is pretty, and has a grownup figure. She asked me whether to pet or neck with the boy. She says most kids do it. I'll admit when I was 15 I petted. It got me into serious trouble.

"If I tell her not to pet I'll be old-fashioned. If I tell her to go ahead, she may repeat my mistake. Can you help me?"

I'll be glad to try. Many parents tell their young people to pet, but to be discreet about it. Their advice is dangerous. Teen-agers' physical responses come like lightning. Their judgment is not good.

Petting can lead to disaster. It is also in bad taste. The common public displays of teen-age affection are equivalent to eating mashed potatoes with your fingers or brushing your teeth in a hotel lobby.

Your daughter is right when she says most young people pet.

Probably their behavior is one of the results of going steady. Kids who go steady are apt to use less restraint than those who date casually. One consequence is a rise in the number of babies born out of wedlock. No longer are our unwed mothers underprivileged kids, fighting back at the world. Now many of them are otherwise normal youngsters who have come to include sex as a part of their social life.

Don't be afraid of being old-fashioned. Virtue doesn't change. Tell your daughter not to pet. Give her the benefit of your experience. That's what parents are for.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "How soon should a girl be permitted to have dates? Is 14 too young?"

LN.

(A) It depends on the girl, the boy, and the customs of 'your neighborhood. In some places nice, responsible girls of 14 are permitted to date. In other places they aren't. Usually it is best to follow the customs of the other girls in the neighborhood. Don't let your girl be the first of her gang to date. But don't make her last either.

State's Reservoirs Won't Fill This Year

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The U.S. Bureau of Reclamation is predicting that neither Shasta nor Folsom reservoirs will fill during the current year.

Shasta is expected to reach its maximum storage for the year, about 3.9 million acre-feet, at the end of May. This is 600,000 acre-feet less than capacity. Folsom is expected to be 150,000 acre-feet short of filling at the end of June, when the water volume is expected to be 850,000 acre-feet.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Insurance Man Retires After 41 Years On Job

Norman G. Boyd of Sausalito, general cashier of the America Fore insurances companies of America Fore Loyalty Group, has retired after 41 years, under the Group's retirement plan.

He was honored on the occasion at a testimonial dinner given for him at the Leopard Cafe in San Francisco by 125 of his associates in the group's Pacific Department headquarters.

Born in Rhode Island, Boyd studied insurance at Golden Gate College and University of California. He began his insurance career in 1920 with Continental Insurance Co., parent company of the America Fore Loyalty Group.

Starting with the company as an assistant bookkeeper, he later worked in the accounts, statistical and cashier's departments in San Francisco. He was appointed general cashier there in 1958.

Mr. Boyd served overseas with the Army in World War I, and was with the San Rafael unit of the Coast Guard Reserve in World War II. He is a member of the Marin Rod and Gun Club and a past commander of the Mill Valley Post of the American Legion.

3 Women Drunken Drivers Fined

Three women drunken drivers were fined Thursday in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Leonard A. Thomas.

Lois Arden Strauss, 35, of 360 Litho Street, Sausalito, must pay $132 fine and remain on six months probation. She was caught on Bridgeway in Sausalito March 31.

Elizabeth P. Kramer, 37, of 12 Azalea Drive, Mill Valley, and Eileen Tillie Ericson, 53, of San Pablo, drew identical sentences. They were put on six months probation and fined $150 each, but $75 of the fine will be suspended if no violation occurs within the next five months, Judge Thomas ruled.

Mrs. Kramer was caught on Highway 101 on March 3. Mrs. Ericson was arrested on South Novato Boulevard last Sunday.

Belvedere Council Meeting Changed

The Belvedere City Council will hold an adjourned meeting on Wednesday instead of Tuesday, at 8 p.m. in the community hall to take action on the bids for construction of the sewer system, according to City Manager Britton Rey.

The Belvedere Recreation Commission will present its plans for a marina recreational development on the tidelands side of San Rafael Avenue. The planning commission will give its recommendation on a revokable license for repair of a wharf on city property.

Petting By Teen-Agers Can Lead To Consequences That Are Disastrous

"What should I tell my daughter?" a mother asks. "She is 15, and going out on her first dates.

"Her boy friend comes from a nice family. My girl is pretty, and has a grownup figure. She asked me whether to pet or neck with the boy. She says most kids do it. I'll admit when I was 15 I petted. It got me into serious trouble.

"If I tell her not to pet I'll be old-fashioned. If I tell her to go ahead, she may repeat my mistake. Can you help me?"

I'll be glad to try. Many parents tell their young people to pet, but to be discreet about it. Their advice is dangerous. Teen-agers' physical responses come like lightning. Their judgment is not good.

Petting can lead to disaster. It is also in bad taste. The common public displays of teenage affection are equivalent to eating mashed potatoes with your fingers or brushing your teeth in a hotel lobby.

Your daughter is right when she says most young people pet.

Probably their behavior is one of the results of going steady. Kids who go steady are apt to use less restraint than those who date casually. One consequence is a rise in the number of babies born out of wedlock. No longer are our unwed mothers underprivileged kids, fighting back at the world. Now many of them are otherwise normal youngsters who have come to include sex as a part of their social life.

Don't be afraid of being old-fashioned. Virtue doesn't change. Tell your daughter not to pet. Give her the benefit of your experience. That's what parents are for.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "How soon should a girl be permitted to have dates? Is 14 too young?"

LN.

(A) It depends on the girl, the boy, and the customs of 'your neighborhood. In some places nice, responsible girls of 14 are permitted to date. In other places they aren't. Usually it is best to follow the customs of the other girls in the neighborhood. Don't let your girl be the first of her gang to date. But don't make her last either.

State's Reservoirs Won't Fill This Year

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The U.S. Bureau of Reclamation is predicting that neither Shasta nor Folsom reservoirs will fill during the current year.

Shasta is expected to reach its maximum storage for the year, about 3.9 million acre-feet, at the end of May. This is 600,000 acre-feet less than capacity. Folsom is expected to be 150,000 acre-feet short of filling at the end of June, when the water volume is expected to be 850,000 acre-feet.

IT'S ALWAYS A DUET

Mill Valley Honors Retired Police Chief

Vice Mayor George Blackwell of Mill Valley presented former Police Chief James P. McGowan with a resolution yesterday, signed by all members of the city council, in appreciation of McGowan's service to the city since 1937. Presentation was made at McGowan's home at 201 Miller Avenue.

"On behalf of the people of Mill Valley," the resolution read, "we express sincere appreciation and thanks for the methodical and precise methods in which police responsibilities were performed under your direction and for the faithful enaction of duties, the devotion to the city and the department above and beyond the call of duty.

McGowan retired May 1.

Let The Grass Rest

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Insurance Man Retires After 41 Years On Job

Norman G. Boyd of Sausalito, general cashier of the America Fore insurances companies of America Fore Loyalty Group, has retired after 41 years, under the Group's retirement plan.

He was honored on the occasion at a testimonial dinner given for him at the Leopard Cafe in San Francisco by 125 of his associates in the group's Pacific Department headquarters.

Born in Rhode Island, Boyd studied insurance at Golden Gate College and University of California. He began his insurance career in 1920 with Continental Insurance Co., parent company of the America Fore Loyalty Group.

Starting with the company as an assistant bookkeeper, he later worked in the accounts, statistical and cashier's departments in San Francisco. He was appointed general cashier there in 1958.

Mr. Boyd served overseas with the Army in World War I, and was with the San Rafael unit of the Coast Guard Reserve in World War II. He is a member of the Marin Rod and Gun Club and a past commander of the Mill Valley Post of the American Legion.

3 Women Drunken Drivers Fined

Three women drunken drivers were fined Thursday in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Leonard A. Thomas.

Lois Arden Strauss, 35, of 360 Litho Street, Sausalito, must pay $132 fine and remain on six months probation. She was caught on Bridgeway in Sausalito March 31.

Elizabeth P. Kramer, 37, of 12 Azalea Drive, Mill Valley, and Eileen Tillie Ericson, 53, of San Pablo, drew identical sentences. They were put on six months probation and fined $150 each, but $75 of the fine will be suspended if no violation occurs within the next five months, Judge Thomas ruled.

Mrs. Kramer was caught on Highway 101 on March 3. Mrs. Ericson was arrested on South Novato Boulevard last Sunday.

Belvedere Council Meeting Changed

The Belvedere City Council will hold an adjourned meeting on Wednesday instead of Tuesday, at 8 p.m. in the community hall to take action on the bids for construction of the sewer system, according to City Manager Britton Rey.

The Belvedere Recreation Commission will present its plans for a marina recreational development on the tidelands side of San Rafael Avenue. The planning commission will give its recommendation on a revokable license for repair of a wharf on city property.

Dear Cy and Nan,
We have just about completed the 2 bedrooms, 2 bath home that perches on that secluded tree-studded lot. The plank floors and used brick make the outside oak by the deck, part of the home. A compact stainless steel electric kitchen only adds to the enjoyment of the whole picture. We tried to develop something different and unusual and still keep the price below a tract home. This home can easily be finished into a 4 bedroom, 3 bath. We are asking $24,950.

Octogenarian's Unalienable Right To Keep Her Home

Our revered American Declaration of Independence recognizes certain "unalienable rights" of all men, including "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

It strikes us that the San Anselmo school board is about to trample on an 85-year-old woman's unalienable right to pursue happiness.

Look at it this way:

Fifty-five years ago a young mother of 30 brought her family to San Anselmo to live, driven from San Francisco by the devastation of the nightmarish earthquake and fire.

She established a new family home near Wade Thomas School.

That was in 1906.

Now it is 1961.

That young mother of yesteryear has attained the age of 85.

She still lives happily (happily until very recently, at least) in the same house near Wade Thomas School.

What does "pursuit of happiness" mean to her at this stage of her life?

We haven't asked her, but we expect her answer would be to live out her years in the familiar and comfortable and secure surroundings of her home of more than half a century.

But comes now the villain.

One day there appears in the yard a strange man who studies the house and the rather large lot very carefully.

"May I help you?" inquires the daughter of the aged lady of the house.

"I'm an appraiser. The school is getting ready to take this place, you know," the strange man replies.

No, nobody had been told; leastwise those whose homes were to be taken had not received the courtesy of a notification from school board or administrators.

In our opinion, the 85-year-old woman was deprived of her right to pursue her happiness at the moment she was told the school was planning to take her property.

It is true that taking people's property is all done "by due process of law." There is nothing illegal about it, so far as we know. The school needs to expand. Probably taking the aged woman's home is the "most efficient" and the most economically feasible way to accomplish expansion of the Wade Thomas School.

We can't help noting that Adolph Eichmann was honored in the Third Reich for his efficiency and economy of "final solution."

But this, Thank God, is NOT the Third Reich.

We ought not let efficiency and economy lead us into dispossessing honored senior citizens from their homes, depriving them of their unalienable right to the pursuit of happiness.

Bouquets And Brickbats

BOUQUETS to Leslie Fishell of Mill Valley and Barbara Sevall of Santa Venetia for finishing one-two in the Bay Area Spelling Bee finals in San Francisco. Leslie now goes to Washington later this month for the national finals. Two other Marin students, Jeanne Parsons of San Rafael and Jeffrey McGough of San Anselmo, placed ninth and tenth, giving Marin schools four of the first 10 places against all the school of the Bay Area.

BOUQUETS, too, to The Handicappers, a little known group of teen-agers who serve as trained helpers for the physically and mentally handicapped. And the same to the eight Marin health agencies and San Anselmo American Legion Post 179 which sponsor the training program, Ray Greenberg, its director and Kreig S. Vezie, Tamalpais teacher, who directs the training course.

A BRICKBAT to supervisors who, when informed that Marin is California's sole county still failing to classify jobs in its Welfare Department according to required statewide practice, were reluctant to act.

A BOUQUET to the Marin County Welfare Department, whose nationally famed family counseling service made Marin the only Bay Area county to have a lower rate of Aid to Needy Children in 1960 than in 1950. This in spite of the fact that during the decade, the county's divorce rate doubled.

BOUQUETS to Marin's schools, too. And while we're tossing them to the youths, a BOUQUET to Ellen Frances Oman, Tam High senior, who won a $50 third prize in the 16th annual Press and Union League Club competition for student newswriting.

WHAT ONE TREE CAN DO

Millions of trees should be planted to prevent coastal cities from being flooded by melting icecaps.

This was the advice given by Dr. Chauncey D. Leake, president of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

His statement was based on the fact that trees pick up and absorb the carbon dioxide which is thrown into the atmosphere in increasing amounts as a result of the incomplete combustion of automobile exhausts and chimney smoke.

This screen of gas holds the sun's heat too close to the earth. If this heat becomes too intense it could turn the polar ice into water.

While modern inventions provide many benefits, we should watch lest they run counter to God's plan for a balanced world. If the disadvantages outweigh the advantages, everybody eventually suffers.

Planting a tree is one simple practical step to correct this lack of balance within the grasp of practically everyone.

"Thine are the heavens, and Thine is the earth: the world and the fulness thereof Thou has found it." (Psalm 88:12)

Teach us to adapt ourselves to Your divine plan, O Father, not ignore it.

HELP MEDICAL AID BILL

Elderly Organizing Nationwide Group

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy's medical-aid-to-the-aged bill, whose prospects have appeared sickly of late, may soon get a massive dose of first aid.

The shot in the arm is to be administered by a new organization, the National Council of Senior Citizens' Clubs, which plans to hold a founding convention in St. Louis, Mo., some time before June 15.

Representatives of 50 organizations for the elderly, with well over 1,500,000 members, will meet to adopt a constitution and elect a board of directors.

The new group is being organized by former leaders of the Senior Citizens for Kennedy movement that operated during the 1960 Presidential campaign. Its organizers believe it has vast legislative potential. Elderly persons — those 65 or older—numbered 16,559,580 in the U. S. in 1960 and constituted 9.2 per cent of the national population—a substantial bloc of the electorate.

IF THE NEW organization gets off to a good start and gets into action fast, it could provide the push necessary to force the Administration's medical-aid-to-the-aged bill through Congress. That is one of its objectives.

The Senior Citizens for Kennedy movement was headed by ex-Rep. Aime J. Forand (D, R.I. 1937-39, 1941-61), long an advocate and sponsor of bills to use the Social Security taxing power to provide health benefits for the aged, as is proposed in the 1961 Kennedy administration bill.

Among Forand's chief assistants were Dr. Blue Carstenson, who has since been appointed to a high job in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, James C. O'Brien of the United Steelworkers Union, Michael Covert of the National Assn. of Senior Citizens, and many others.

O'BRIEN TOLD Congressional Quarterly that the tremendous political potential of the aged was demonstrated by response in the 1960 campaign. Senior Citizens for Kennedy organized a network of groups that sent literature to millions of the nation's elderly and held major rallies in a number of cities. The movement keyed its campaign efforts largely to the health-care issue.

O'Brien said the experience of the campaign showed that many otherwise conservative elderly persons could be "reached" on the health-care issue. He said statistics developed after the election indicated there was no doubt substantial blocs of voters shifted from Vice President Nixon to Kennedy when they learned that Kennedy supported using the Social Security mechanism to provide health benefits for the aged, while Nixon did not.

Following the election Forand, O'Brien, Covert and leaders of several organizations for the elderly began to discuss the possibility of using contacts and channels developed in the Senior Citizens for Kennedy effort to create a national organization for the elderly.

After several meetings, the group agreed that the proposed organization should be a loose federation of senior citizens groups of all types, with provision for individual memberships for people living in areas where there were no local organizations.

IT WAS ALSO agreed, however, that the organization should not restrict its interests to medical care for the aged; it should also be, in Forand's words, "a permanent organization (that) could work for other measures, not only in the interest of a special group, but also in programs for the general welfare of all the people."

Covert, who has been acting as the group's executive secretary pro tem, said there was as yet no central headquarters for the new organization, and that he and all the others involved had been operating from their homes or regular offices—and paying expenses out of their own pockets.

Two $100 Per Plate Dinners Same Night

By CHAPIN A. DAY

CHIP DAY

We have now come into the time of the political year known as the give-a-dinner-to-raise-some-funds-for-the-party month. The elections are too far away to create interest, so the only way to attract people to a $100 a plate is to dig out a big name.

The Republicans have come up with Walter H. Judd, Minnesota congressman, a man who made a nationwide name for himself as the keynoter of the 1960 Republican National Convention in Chicago.

The Democrats are countering with Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

And the two parties have picked the same night for their affairs, next Saturday, May 20.

GOLDBERG WILL be speaking in the Fairmont Hotel at the Northern California "Tribute to President John F. Kennedy" dinner. The idea is to help pay off the National Democratic Party's deficit and also provide some funds to operate the state organization.

Roger Kent of Kent Woodlands, as state committee chairman of course is chief organizer of the event. Another Marinite, William M. Roth, of Sausalito, is one of the three co-chairmen of the finance committee.

Goldberg's speech is billed as "a major policy address" on labor.

THE REPUBLICANS will gather in the Hilton Inn at San Mateo to hear Congressman Judd. Although tickets here are $100 each too, a man can bring his wife for an additional $10, if she doesn't eat too much.

There will be a cocktail hour, dinner, the speech and then dancing, all for the same price.

Although the appearance is principally a fund raising scheme for San Mateo County Central Committee, other Bay Area counties horned in on it. Now proceeds from tickets sold in Marin will trickle back to the Marin County Central Committee coffers. Same in the other counties.

Walter F. Kieckhefer Jr., vice chairman of the United Republican Finance Committee of Marin, is handling the details in this county. Strange part about this is that the finance committee chairman, Elmer Worlund, isn't participating in the endeavor. He's not opposing the dinner, but he's not in there pitching either. He'd rather see some big name brought to Marin rather than having Marin go somewhere else to hear a big shot.

WHILE WE'RE ON dinners, we might mention that another group is going to have one in Marin next month.

The Marin chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union has invited Rep. James Roosevelt to speak at its eighth annual potluck supper at the Roger Kent estate in Kent Woodlands.

The date is June 24. It's not $100 per plate, though.

People coming for cocktails and dinner are being asked to bring a hot dish if their last name starts with letters from A to N and a salad if from O to Z. Everyone, eating or not, is to be asked for a $1.50 donation. Children half price.

ONLY ONE Marin-sponsored bill in this year's legislature has as yet been signed into law by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The bill, SB 294 by Sen. John F. McCarthy, provides that non-profit organizations like the Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girls, don't have to collect sales tax on candy or confectionery they sell in fund raising drives.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Need A Column By Teen-agers

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Roger Smeets (AFS Belgian exchange student) writes that he is "tired and disgusted" with the continual question of Belgian vs. American "dating" habits, and I can't say that I blame him. Still, I think he should be congratulated for the clarity with which he has treated a topic so boring and so irrelevant to his purposes.

He has described with great accuracy the dilemma of the American teen-ager who is urged by conformist parents to conform, then criticized for the results.

Dating, heavens! The word must have been invented on Madison Avenue. American youth is filled with interest in all kinds of subjects—psychoanalysis, baseball, sewing, existentialism, mathematics, city government, religion—not to mention food, clothing, shelter, and the various forms of love, none of which have anything to do with "dating" or the vacuous, automatic behavior which this unattractive term prescribes.

If the Independent-Journal agrees that the serious concerns of youth deserve our serious attention, I have the following to suggest: not only a temporary byline for Roger Smeets, who has surely earned it, but a regular, independent and outspoken column to be contributed by local teen-agers to this newspaper, NOT in imitation of the social page.

Adult readers might be amazed, amused, horrified, entertained, delighted and considerably instructed to discover what their younger relatives are really thinking about.

Let's Go Slowly On Communism

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Your editorial of May 4 relates the interest of Superintendent of Schools Virgil Hollis in the Los Angeles County program for intensive instruction of children in the perils of Communism.

Now let's go slowly, Superintendent Hollis. I'm not sure I care for the evident approach, which sounds like the typical stuff coming out of the happy home of the lunatic fringes, Los Angeles. I have no use at all for any Communists, but I want to be very sure you don't convert our schools into something using Communist methods. We don't want any propaganda factories here.

Don't set up the conclusions ahead of time, and then work back to the facts.

I want my kids taught history (preferably world history from 5,000 B.C. on), economics, civics, science subjects, languages. I want these taught as objectively and impartially as they can be presented. I also want such subjects as mathematics taught to train them to think and reason.

If these things are done well, I am trusting in my children and your's to draw their own conclusions as to a desirable system of life and government. They are really surprisingly smart. They don't need a bunch of teachers who have been specially coached to present "our way of life," and some of them are not slow in catching onto "slanted material" which will give them a skepticism toward all teaching.

Let us look through the slick language in which the Los Angeles program is presented and not rush things unduly.

Probers Seeking Ten-Percenters Bilking Investors In Marin

Marin too may have some unwary victims of the so-called "Ten-Percenter" bilking trade, which has been exposed in other parts of the state.

At least, investigators are reported snooping around, trying to track down a few such cases in the county.

Apparently, they involve the transfer of deeds of trust on land or property. Some money lenders are so busy, they take deeds of trust as security without knowing exactly where the property is. What looks like a good building lot on paper could turn out to be some land-locked cow pasture that has no access for miles around. Or the lot might be under 10 feet of water for all you know.

EVER-VIGILANT members of the grand jury are reported quite interested in the quality of care that patients are getting at the county hospital and farm.

As we get it, here is a sample of the type of questions that are cropping up:

Oldsters who have no relatives to look after their interests—Do they get immediate attentiton when seriously ill? Or do they have to wait 24 hours before a doc comes around to check?

A NATIONAL magazine representative was seen snapping a lot of pictures of Jim Kirchanski, the man who runs the 3-R School in San Rafael. Wonder what they were up to?

Maybe we'll find out in a week or two.

INSPECTOR BILL Bradley of the sheriff's office has the "law enforcement" look stamped all over him.

That favorite hat of his looks as if it came straight from Scotland Yard.

Hhis previous car bore the license number NDM 502 (502 is the old Vehicle Code number for drunken driving). Bradley's new car has license SRH 245. (245 in the Penal Code is assault with a deadly weapon.)

MRS. CHARLES Krause of Kentfield acquired a brand new kitten on the day Princess Margaret was married. So she named the pet Armstrong Jones.

But alas, this month, it became apparent Armstrong Jones was expecting. So she promptly renamed her Princess. Now Princess has six kittens.

Mrs. Krause is taking no chances. She just calls the little ones "Little Joneses."

THIEVES ARE stooping pretty low these days, according to sheriff's deputies. Just the other week, a man who lives in Novato reported that he stores garbage cans at the end of Deer Island Road. Darned if someone didn't steal several of the cans!

Investigators are busy sniffing away in search of the culprit.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

R. H. Pearson, of Denver, Colo., tells of a Cornish miner named Jan whose pal, Bill, was missing one morning at the mine. "Where's Bill?" asked the foreman. "Bill got hisself a broken leg," reported Jan. "How did he get it?" asked the foreman.

"Blamed if I know," admitted Jan, "' didn't get it 'ere, so I figger it must 'ave been broke afore 'e left 'ome."

Another time this same Jan fell into a puddle in one of the mine shafts. "I was walkin' along mindin' my own business," he explained, "when I come to this 'ere puddle. I stepped on the plank to cross it and the plank wasn't there, so down I went, plank and all!"

A Montreal newspaper reports the arrest by unappreciative cops of a peddler without a license who was selling neat signs reading, "No peddlers allowed."

Two $100 Per Plate Dinners Same Night

By CHAPIN A. DAY

CHIP DAY

We have now come into the time of the political year known as the give-a-dinner-to-raise-some-funds-for-the-party month. The elections are too far away to create interest, so the only way to attract people to a $100 a plate is to dig out a big name.

The Republicans have come up with Walter H. Judd, Minnesota congressman, a man who made a nationwide name for himself as the keynoter of the 1960 Republican National Convention in Chicago.

The Democrats are countering with Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

And the two parties have picked the same night for their affairs, next Saturday, May 20.

GOLDBERG WILL be speaking in the Fairmont Hotel at the Northern California "Tribute to President John F. Kennedy" dinner. The idea is to help pay off the National Democratic Party's deficit and also provide some funds to operate the state organization.

Roger Kent of Kent Woodlands, as state committee chairman of course is chief organizer of the event. Another Marinite, William M. Roth, of Sausalito, is one of the three co-chairmen of the finance committee.

Goldberg's speech is billed as "a major policy address" on labor.

THE REPUBLICANS will gather in the Hilton Inn at San Mateo to hear Congressman Judd. Although tickets here are $100 each too, a man can bring his wife for an additional $10, if she doesn't eat too much.

There will be a cocktail hour, dinner, the speech and then dancing, all for the same price.

Although the appearance is principally a fund raising scheme for San Mateo County Central Committee, other Bay Area counties horned in on it. Now proceeds from tickets sold in Marin will trickle back to the Marin County Central Committee coffers. Same in the other counties.

Walter F. Kieckhefer Jr., vice chairman of the United Republican Finance Committee of Marin, is handling the details in this county. Strange part about this is that the finance committee chairman, Elmer Worlund, isn't participating in the endeavor. He's not opposing the dinner, but he's not in there pitching either. He'd rather see some big name brought to Marin rather than having Marin go somewhere else to hear a big shot.

WHILE WE'RE ON dinners, we might mention that another group is going to have one in Marin next month.

The Marin chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union has invited Rep. James Roosevelt to speak at its eighth annual potluck supper at the Roger Kent estate in Kent Woodlands.

The date is June 24. It's not $100 per plate, though.

People coming for cocktails and dinner are being asked to bring a hot dish if their last name starts with letters from A to N and a salad if from O to Z. Everyone, eating or not, is to be asked for a $1.50 donation. Children half price.

ONLY ONE Marin-sponsored bill in this year's legislature has as yet been signed into law by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The bill, SB 294 by Sen. John F. McCarthy, provides that non-profit organizations like the Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girls, don't have to collect sales tax on candy or confectionery they sell in fund raising drives.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Need A Column By Teen-agers

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Roger Smeets (AFS Belgian exchange student) writes that he is "tired and disgusted" with the continual question of Belgian vs. American "dating" habits, and I can't say that I blame him. Still, I think he should be congratulated for the clarity with which he has treated a topic so boring and so irrelevant to his purposes.

He has described with great accuracy the dilemma of the American teen-ager who is urged by conformist parents to conform, then criticized for the results.

Dating, heavens! The word must have been invented on Madison Avenue. American youth is filled with interest in all kinds of subjects—psychoanalysis, baseball, sewing, existentialism, mathematics, city government, religion—not to mention food, clothing, shelter, and the various forms of love, none of which have anything to do with "dating" or the vacuous, automatic behavior which this unattractive term prescribes.

They're A Special Group Of Mothers

They Will Spend Their Big Day With Children They've Adopted

By CORENA GREEN

What is the meaning of Mother's Day.

To the sentimental, it is a time for red roses. To the thoughtful, it is dinner out at a nice restaurant. To small fry, it means that mother gets to have her breakfast in bed. To the cynical, it is a day exploited by merchants.

But there is a group of mothers to whom the day has a very special significance. Red roses, breakfast in bed, dinner out, and fancy presents pale into insignificance beside the fact that children in the house have a right to call them "mother."

These are the mothers who have been fortunate enough to adopt children and doubly fortunate if the adoption has been arranged through the Children's Home Society of California.

THE SOCIETY is a statewide agency licensed by the state to place children for adoption. It is one of the oldest and largest privately supported agencies in the country which devotes its services exclusively to the promotion of sound adoptions. It is a non-profit agency and serves children of all races and creeds.

The society traces its beginnings to 1882 when through the American Educational Society and various churches in different states, homes were found for needy children who would otherwise be placed in public institutions. By 1903 29 societies in 26 states counted 22,000 children who had been "rescued and given pleasant and prosperous homes in excellent families."

The California Home Society was established by Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Townsend in September, 1891. The couple were missionaries who had lost their only son in Jamaica and returned to the United States where they devoted their lives to work for needy children. Dec. 10, 1891, the date on which the state granted a charter, is regarded as the agency's birthday.

In the early years funds were scarce and the public critical because of the questionable practices of other similar agencies. In 1911 a State Board of Charities and Corrections was created with one of its duties being the supervision of child-placing agencies and CHS was one of four agencies licensed.

By 1918 the struggle for public recognition as a creditable agency was over. Headquarters for the society were (and still are) in Los Angeles but a northern branch was needed. In 1920 Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Gibson of Oakland gave their 12-room house on three acres of property to be used as a northern district headquarters. This establishment served the society until 1959.

At present the society is the only privately operated agency licensed by the State Department of Social Welfare to operate throughout the entire state. In the 70 years of its existence over 21,000 children have been placed in carefully selected homes. This has been made possible by the support of about 30,000 interested citizens of California, adoption fees, bequests, foundation grants and the allocations from federated fund drives.

MONEY is being continually raised by the 160 chapters and auxiliaries and five junior chapters which are spread throughout the state.

In Marin County money comes from the United Bay Area Crusade and from the three chapters — Peter Pan, Tom Thumb and Jolly Rogers.

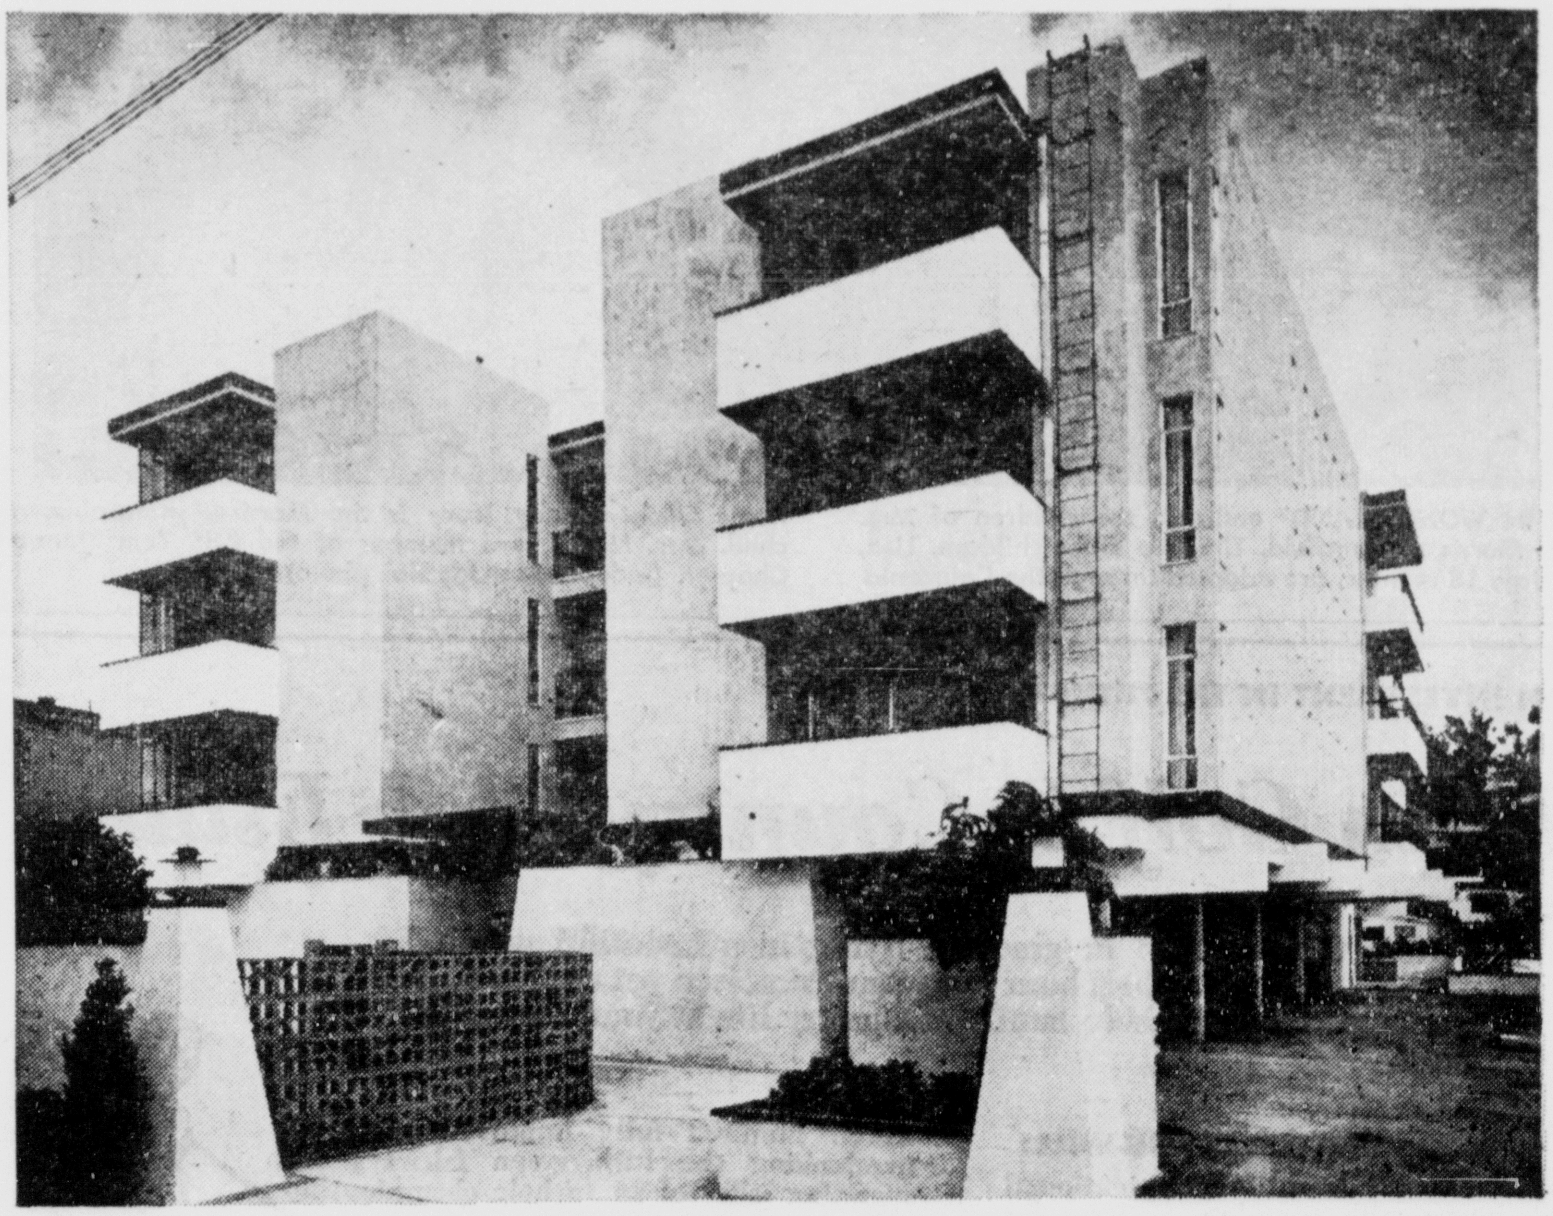

Peter Pan was Marin's first chapter. It was organized in 1948 and money has traditionally been raised through an annual dance. This past year additional revenue came from a tea co-sponsored with Tom Thumb, at which Mrs. Anne Gilbreth Barney spoke, and a special magician staged a show for children. The chapter has also presented weekly movies at the Kent School which have been popular.

Tom Thumb was organized next, and members came primarily from the Tiburon Peninsula. However, this is no longer true and the members now live throughout the county. This group's principal fund-raising event is the annual Starlight Dinner Dance in the fall. For two years the group has also presented a spring bridge party. Money has been raised through a tennis tournament in conjunction with other Bay Area chapters and, together with Jolly Rogers Chapter, models and waitresses have been supplied for the fashionable Northgate luncheons. The group also donates games, clothing and toys to meet some of the special needs of the society.

Jolly Rogers is North Marin's chapter. This chapter also has an annual dinner dance, has appeared on the Fashion Focus series and raised money through a Cove Players' production in the Tiburon Playhouse. The group also participated in a bazaar given by the society in Oakland.

HELPING MOTHER can be fun and Tom Thumb Chapter member Mrs. Robert Williams of Tiburon is obviously delighted to have the expert assistance of Meredith, 5, and Denis, 8, adopted through the Children's Home Society. In 70 years of existence, the society has placed 21,000 children. In 1960, 987 were placed, surpassing all previous records. (Independent-Journal photo) happily report they send around $4,000 annually to the society.

FROM THESE funds many benefit, including natural parents wishing help in planning for their child, children for whom adoption seems indicated, and couples who want to complete their families through adoption.

Natural parents are protected from making hasty decisions to give up their child; children are protected from unnecessary separation from parents, from adoption by unfit persons and from interference by natural parents after becoming established in an adoptive home. Furthermore, adopting parents have the peace of mind which results from knowing their child was legally relinquished.

The 1960 annual report tells the story of the society's work during that one year period when 987 children were placed in adoptive homes, surpassing all previous records. Natural parents totaling 1,981 received skilled counselling; 985 relinquished their children; 511 were able to keep their children through the society's help and 432 were receiving service at the end of that year. A total of 1,901 children were studied for adoptiton and 1,440 of these were placed in the society's care.

A total of 2,192 preliminary applications for a child were received during 1961 resulting in 1,136 formal applications for adoptions.

In 1959, through the terms of the will of Robert C. Hillen, the society received a large bequest to construct a building. This is the Golden Gate district headquarters on Telegraph Avenue in Oakland. It is to this warm pink stone building that natural mothers come for help and where many of the children are brought for adoption. It is here that prospective adoptive couples take their first steps toward becoming parents.

It is to this building that the boarding mothers bring the children on clinic days to be seen by the doctors. These are the mothers who, prior to adoption, care for the children. They are selected for their ability to give children love and the affection of a normal family life.

AND IT IS at the Hillem memorial that adoptive parents have their first meeting with their new son or daughter and from here they take the child home to begin a wonderful new life.

So due to efforts of Peter Pan, Tom Thumb and Jolly Rogers and the many other chapters of the society, Mother's Day has a very special meaning for many women who might otherwise be childless.

Many more in the future will leave the Hillen memorial with a new son or daughter and be thankful for the high standards of the Children's Home Society.

Many more children will be given the right to normal living.

And there will be many more Happy Mother's Days.

A MEMBER OF the Jolly Rogers Chapter of the Children's Home Society is Mrs. Robert L. Freeman, Jr., who was herself adopted through the society. Mrs. Freeman lives in Fairfax and now has a grown family of her own. Because she was adopted, she feels a strong tie to the society which is one of the oldest and largest privately supported agencies in the country which devotes its services to the promotion of sound adoptions. A PRE-SCHOOLER gets some help from KGO-TV's "Miss Nancy" Besst in dressing Willy the Weatherman on Channel 7's "Romper Room" show. Anything Can Happen During Miss Nancy's Television Show

A love of outdoor living and a talent for making the most of life brought KGO-TV's "Miss Nancy" Besst to sunny San Rafael.

Nancy, who is part-time mother, TV hostess, teacher and baby-sitter on Channel 7's popular "Romper Room" program (weekdays, 9:35 a.m.) came west from Canton, Ohio, bent on a television career away from freezing winters and boiling summers . . . and found exactly what she was looking for in the Bay Area.

STARTING Northern California's first "Romper Room" in 1958, after serving as relief teacher at various "Romper Rooms" around the country, Nancy quickly settled on Marin as the place for her new home.

"I've enjoyed swimming ever since I was little," says Nancy, who was a star Red Cross lifeguard and water ballet performer in high school and college. "It didn't take me long to locate a lovely swimming pool apartment in San Rafael, and as often as the weather allows, I'm in the water." Hiking, horseback riding, and boating also keep Nancy outdoors.

"Miss Nancy" found more than fine weather and a TV career in the Bay Area. Last year she traded her "Miss" title (at least off the air) for a "Mrs." when she married Wayne Henley, an executive with the Wilbur Ellis Import-Export Co. of San Francisco.

True to fashion, Nancy and Wayne were married in Marin by Rev. J. Weever Hess of San Anselmo's Presbyterian Church. On the way to a wedding rehearsal, little Darryl Hess asked his father where he was going."

"Oh, I'm going to see 'Miss Nancy'," replied Reverend Hess.

THE LITTLE boy's brightened, "Why, daddy?"

"Because I'm going to marry her."

Tears welled in Darryl's eyes as he asked, "Well, what will you do with mommy?"

The reverend's son is just one of the 60,000 pre-schoolers who tune in every morning to see "Miss Nancy." In her role as TV teacher she sings songs, reads stories, plays games and instructs the studio and home audience in good health and behavior habits.

Although the show is scripted by Bert Claster at "Romper Room" headquarters in Baltimore, Md., many things happen that are never planned. Unexpected things began happening on Nancy's very first program. A 4-year-old walked up in the middle of a commercial message Nancy was delivering and took the sponsor's product from her.

"I didn't know what to do," said Nancy, "until Danny began an ad lib commercial of his own . . . and it turned out to be a more persuasive message than the one I had planned."

ON ANOTHER show a little girl brought a toy to show on the air. "I asked her all about it before we went on," reveals Nancy, "hoping that she would have everything in mind. On the air I said, 'Susie, what have you brought to show us' Susie looked exasperated: 'Can't you remember anything, Miss Nancy? I told you all about it just a few minutes ago!' "

Says Nancy, "Over the past two years I've had to look out for anything to happen. And look for it or not, with over 300 children a year on the show, the unexpected usually happens. Thank goodness for my Marin retreat where I can unwind and relax with a swim or a hike."

AT HER SAN RAFAEL apartment home, Miss Nancy likes to relax by spending as much time as possible in or by the swimming pool with her husband, Wayne, and their dog. (Independent-Journal photo)

The program is seen five days a week starting at 9:35 a.m. In private life, Miss Nancy is Mrs. Wayne Henley of San Rafael, and resides at the Harbour Villa Apartments, 95 Medway.

Anything Can Happen During Miss Nancy's Television Show

A love of outdoor living and a talent for making the most of life brought KGO-TV's "Miss Nancy" Besst to sunny San Rafael.

Nancy, who is part-time mother, TV hostess, teacher and baby-sitter on Channel 7's popular "Romper Room" program (weekdays, 9:35 a.m.) came west from Canton, Ohio, bent on a television career away from freezing winters and boiling summers . . . and found exactly what she was looking for in the Bay Area.

STARTING Northern California's first "Romper Room" in 1958, after serving as relief teacher at various "Romper Rooms" around the country, Nancy quickly settled on Marin as the place for her new home.

"I've enjoyed swimming ever since I was little," says Nancy, who was a star Red Cross lifeguard and water ballet performer in high school and college. "It didn't take me long to locate a lovely swimming pool apartment in San Rafael, and as often as the weather allows, I'm in the water." Hiking, horseback riding, and boating also keep Nancy outdoors.

"Miss Nancy" found more than fine weather and a TV career in the Bay Area. Last year she traded her "Miss" title (at least off the air) for a "Mrs." when she married Wayne Henley, an executive with the Wilbur Ellis Import-Export Co. of San Francisco.

True to fashion, Nancy and Wayne were married in Marin by Rev. J. Weever Hess of San Anselmo's Presbyterian Church. On the way to a wedding rehearsal, little Darryl Hess asked his father where he was going."

"Oh, I'm going to see 'Miss Nancy'," replied Reverend Hess.

THE LITTLE boy's brightened, "Why, daddy?"

"Because I'm going to marry her."

Tears welled in Darryl's eyes as he asked, "Well, what will you do with mommy?"

The reverend's son is just one of the 60,000 pre-schoolers who tune in every morning to see "Miss Nancy." In her role as TV teacher she sings songs, reads stories, plays games and instructs the studio and home audience in good health and behavior habits.

Although the show is scripted by Bert Claster at "Romper Room" headquarters in Baltimore, Md., many things happen that are never planned. Unexpected things began happening on Nancy's very first program. A 4-year-old walked up in the middle of a commercial message Nancy was delivering and took the sponsor's product from her.

"I didn't know what to do," said Nancy, "until Danny began an ad lib commercial of his own . . . and it turned out to be a more persuasive message than the one I had planned."

ON ANOTHER show a little girl brought a toy to show on the air. "I asked her all about it before we went on," reveals Nancy, "hoping that she would have everything in mind. On the air I said, 'Susie, what have you brought to show us' Susie looked exasperated: 'Can't you remember anything, Miss Nancy? I told you all about it just a few minutes ago!' "

Says Nancy, "Over the past two years I've had to look out for anything to happen. And look for it or not, with over 300 children a year on the show, the unexpected usually happens. Thank goodness for my Marin retreat where I can unwind and relax with a swim or a hike."

AT HER SAN RAFAEL apartment home, Miss Nancy likes to relax by spending as much time as possible in or by the swimming pool with her husband, Wayne, and their dog. (Independent-Journal photo)

GARY WAS an isolated, despondent teen-ager who tried to cover up his true feelings by being "tough." (Posed by model)

HIS ONLY REAL interest in life seemed to be cars. He found it gave him a feeling of power to drive a hopped-up automobile.

THEN THE Family Service Agency of Marin County was brought into the picture. Interviews such as this with the family counselor helped him to understand his problems and opened up new vistas.

FAMILIES SERVICE AGENCY

Gary Gets Help In Facing The Future With New Confidence

"Gary" is just 17. He is tall and slender, and wears the current exaggerated uniform for teen-age gangs—peg Levis and a white sweat shirt.

He is a junior in a Marin high school, making poor grades though he is of above average mentality. He has a history of petty thievery, truancy and pre-delinquency. He has just been discharge from his delivery job with a small grocery for stealing from the cash register.

How did Gary get this way? Can he be helped?

Gary's mother was sent for help to the Family Service Agency after turning in desperation to her minister. Social workers saw both the mother and the son separately for several interviews and the picture began to improve.

Gary's mother and father have been married 20 years. During this period, Gary's father has been away from home seven years during World War II and the Korean War. He did not see his son until he was 3 years old.

THE MOTHER and father have been separated twice. During these periods, the mother went back to work.

In discussing Gary's early development during the interviews, both parents began to see that the father felt left out of his family for two reasons. He had not known the boy for long periods and felt uncomfortable around him. Being naturally somewhat passive, he had tended more and more to become a nonentity in the home. The training and discipline had been left up to the mother.

Gary's mother complains because her husband spends all of his time at home in the basement working at his power tools or asleep in front of the television set during the evenings. At the present time the relationship between the parents resembles an "unsettled truce." Each parent goes his own way with no communication with the other.

Gary's parents were both extremely worried about Gary. The mother seemed discouraged because she felt she had given him every material advantage, yet her boy did not seem at all grateful or appreciative. The father felt in particular that Gary was lazy and tended to be naturally "no good." There had been stealing episodes for the past four or five years which the parents covered up. Gary stole things he didn't really need. He was given a very adequate allowance.

Gary's feelings came out somewhat more gradually. He tended to minimize his problems and complained that his parents were always "picking" on him. It was difficult for him to acknowledge any responsibility for being fired form his job. His attitude toward his stealing problem was that he just didn't know —the impulse just came over him. He knew that he didn't need the things that he took, but that he just did it for "kicks."

Gary's one interest in life seemed to be his infatuation with cars. He had joined a car club, but was quickly dropped by the membership when he refused to abide by their rules. A source of much family friction were the two cars disassembled in the garage, gathering dust.

AT FIRST Gary bragged about his delinquencies—such as beer drinking, hub-cap stealing, etc., but gradually as he talked about this, he began to see that this kind of behavior represented a front; that he presented a tough exterior to defend himself against his inner feelings of rejection and insecurity. He was trying to get his parents to show concern and interest in him by his inappropriate behavior.

Gary recognized gradually that he was trying to get back at his parents through his anti-social actions. He mentioned the feeling of power driving a hopped-up car gave him—a feeling of power and control which he actually did not feel for himself and his impulses.

Casework with the parents was not easy. They continued to point out Gary's symptoms to him, telling him he was stupid and would end up in San Quentin. But gradually they, too, began to realize how this played into Gary's need to depreciate himself and in a sense live up to what he thought were his parents' expectations. Also, as a result of the interviews, Gary's parents became more comfortable in discussing the basic insecurity of their marriage relationship.

Although Gary's parents still have some problems, there has been a steady improvement within the family since they first started coming to the Family Service Agency.

GARY, WHO will be 18 next month, is beginning to be concerned about plans for his future. His grades have improved, and his symptoms have disappeared. He has applied for entrance to a technical trade school. He is able to face the future with new determination and confidence.

Marin's Hospitals Work Together

Countywide Council Helps To Minimize Duplications

By JOAN HOPPER

Two cars crash headon on Highway 101. The shattered occupants are taken by ambulance to the emergency room of Marin General Hospital.

An elderly woman, recipient of old-age public assistance, develops symptoms of gallstones. She is sent by her physician to San Rafael General Hospital for cholecystectomy and post-operative care.

An Ignatio housewife promises her little boy to bring him home a baby brother or sister and departs hurriedly for Novato General or Marin General.

A distraught father threatens suicide and is taken for psychiatric treatment to Ross General.

ALL THESE services and countless others available in the four Marin County hospitals add up to a medical program comparable in every respect to the facilities found in a large metropolitan area. This is true even though their combined beds total only 278. This is about half the total in a large city hospital such as the University of California Hospital in San Francisco, which has 550 beds.

Though each Marin hospital can care for the usual medical and surgical cases, certain specialized functions and certain infrequently used pieces of equipment are present in only one or two of the institutions. The avoidance of duplication of services and apparatus, which frees each hospital to concentrate on its specialties, is an important reason for the adequacy of our hospital facilities.

Marin General Hospital, the largest of the four, is the logical place for the bulk of the specialized work. Here a costly electroencephalogram traces on paper the complicated pattern of electrical impulses from the brain after they are magnified electronically. This machine is used in the diagnosis of intracranial growths or to evaluate convulsive states caused by diseases such as epilepsy or by head injury.

New and relatively rare equipment for cardiac catheterization has been added in the past year. This permits the introduction of a tube through a vein in the arm into the heart. Through this tube dyes are injected which are detectible by X-ray. This technique is useful in the diagnosis of certain types of heart disease.

In the new cardiopulmonary laboratory, accurate and precise studies can be made of the function of the lungs. These studies are becoming more important as the population ages and there is an increase in cases of emphysema, a loss of elasticity of the lung tissue, particularly in older people.

THE EMERGENCY room at Marin General Hospital is especially equipped and staffed to handle serious accidents. Here a house physician is available 24 hours a day who can institute lifesaving procedures until the arrival of the patient's own physician or the hospital on-call physician. Nurses with experience in emergency techniques are on hand. Special equipment includes a suction device used to clear the windpipe; oxygen, plaster and splints for immobilizing fractures, and a tray of instruments used to open the chest for cardiac massage in cases of heart stoppage.

A stomach pump is available for the large number of poison cases, and telephone liaison is maintained with the Poison Center in the East Bay so that the composition and antidote of any common poison can be immediately determined. X-ray and other diagnostic equipment is close at hand.

A woman with a suspicious nodule in her thyroid gland may be referred by her physician to either the Marin General or the Ross General radioisotope laboratory. Here she is given a minute dose of a radioactive tracer substance. A Geiger counter automatically scans the thyroid and gives important clues as to the nature of the lump. These same laboratories can make an absolute and definite diagnosis of pernicious anemia, which is difficult to assess by any other means.

Ross and Marin General are both equipped for X-ray therapy, which is used for the treatment of cancers, certain types of dermatitis, and for a variety of other diseases. Both hospitals also have physical therapy departments.

Ross Hospital alone has a psychiatric unit and an isolated tuberculosis wing.

Novato General Hospital, the newest of the four, has a modern surgery, laboratory and X-ray department, and is prepared to care for all emergencies arising in the Novato area. It is the only hospital in addition to Marin General with an obstetrics department.

SAN RAFAEL General is the only institution treating county welfare patients, thus simplifying the administrative relationships between Marin County and the hospitals. Its well-staffed emergency room with doctors always on call serves a vital need in our largest metropolitan center.

This diversification of service has not only produced more and better facilities but has also tended to reduce the cost of hospitalization. Com-

"DOES SUEDE WEAR OFF A JACKET?"

No, suede does not wear off. Suede, genuine suede, that is, is leather. It might, with hard water, become shiny in a spot, but leather does not wear off.

However, there are some imitation suede jackets on the market. They appear and feel like genuine suede. But they are not. They are cloth on which a nap has been glued. Exposed to the sun or heat the rubberized adhesive which glues the imitation suede to the jacket will deteriorate and the cloth backing shows through where the nap was worn off. These jackets, of course, are much lower priced than genuine suede and cannot be expected to wear or clean like genuine leather.

The National Institute of Drycleaning reports receiving suede jackets with the label "100% Laboratory Tested" sewn in them. As a careful buyer, please do not accept such a label as any kind of assurance of quality. It means absolutely nothing, excepting that the manufacturer is trying to confuse you.

Suede can be a luxury leather that will give wonderful service and can be cleaned satisfactorily. That is why so many imitations are offered. Look out for them and know them for what they are. Your professional drycleantr can tell you about them.

How Our Hospitals Cooperate

parison of room rates has consistently indicated that Marin hospitals charge from $2 to $5 a day less than the average San Francisco hospital. Charges in all four hospitals, while not always identical, are very similar.

The avoidance of duplication has been no accident, but is the result of close cooperation between the four local institutions, which since 1955 have banded together in the Marin County Hospital Council. Here information is shared in a joint endeavor to benefit the patient and to insure the smooth functioning of all the hospitals.

Cooperative efforts include a countywide blood bank committee which supervises the securing and administration of blood. A tissue committee reviews slides of all tissues removed at operation to insure that surgery has been appropriate and adequate to the disease. A countywide pharmacy committee studies the multitudinous medications now on the market and recommends those that are most useful at least cost to the patient. Recently the hospitals cooperated in developing a dietary manual.

Several hospitals have taken part in the training of nursing personnel. Both Ross and Marin General accepted licensed vocational nurses during their course at College of Marin a few years ago. At present Ross is training, free of charge, a junior nursing class from San Francisco State College as its contribution to a statewide nursing education program.

IN THE CARDIO-PULMONARY laboratory at Marin General Hospital Mrs. Lee Livingston, an employee, enacts the role of patient to undergo testing with nitrogen and carbon dioxide analyzers and an ear oximeter to determine the ability of her lungs to expel carbon dioxide and take in oxygen. (Independent-Journal photo)

That the hospitals are integral parts of the community is also shown by the number of women volunteers who work at them. The Rainbow Ladies at Ross, the Women's Auxiliary at San Rafael, and the Pink Ladies at Marin General have for years provided services and funds that have both increased the efficiency of hospital functioning and added much to the comfort of patients. At Novato General Hospital, the volunteers were organized and eager to begin work months before the hospital admitted its first patient. Hundreds of volunteers have served hundreds of thousands of hours, the total of volunteer hours at Marin General alone having reached the figure 190,000 by April of this year.

IN 1953 THERE were only two hospitals in Marin County: Ross and San Rafael. Marin General was opened in that year, adding 108 beds and many special services for both in-patients and out-patients. Since then Ross has added a new wing with 19 additional beds and a new operating unit.

In January the doors of the new 30-bed Novato General Hospital were opened. Plans are under way now for an addition of 116 beds to Marin General.

By foresight, cooperation and hard work, Marin County's medical community is seeking to maintain its own high standards for the care of the ill in a rapidly growing area.

Politicians And Press Agents Take A Drubbing From Editor

CRUSADE FOR DEMOCRACY by V. M. Newton Jr., Iowa State University Press, 316 pages, $3.95. Reviewed by Don Keown.

The Tampa, Fla., Tribune is a crusading newspaper, and managing editor Virgil M. Newton Jr. is proud of it.

A newspaper, he believes, is not worth its salt unless it does crusade.

In this book Newton tells in detail of crusades by his newspaper, ranging from taking on the local ward heelers and hoodlums to battering at the doors of secrecy behind which too much of our government today operates.

You don't have to agree with Newton's political philosophy which creeps into the book to admire the courageous manner in which he and his newspaper operate in these usually thankless but vital undertakings.

A special interest with Newton, who served from 1953 to 1960 as chairman of the professional journalism fraternity Sigma Delta Chi's Freedom of Information Committee, is the secret or so-called "executive" meeting of public bodies. The attitude of officials whose status should be that of public servants is too frequently one of arrogance, he says—a feeling that it's none of the public's business how they operate, even though their salaries and appropriations come from that same public's pocketbook. It is an attitude that can be found, Newton reports, all the way from school boards up into the highest level of federal bureaucrats — and, indeed, even in some pronouncements by the presidents themselves.

Newton makes it plain that he has little confidence in the average politician. They are, experience has shown him, usually men who have compromised their principles in order to perpetuate themselves in office, and in order to foster their own selfish interests and those of their cronies.

". . . The politician is the most honest man in all the world—on the election platform," Newton observes.

Part of the trouble, the veteran editor believes, stems from a tendency of our whole society to regard anything that is legal as also being, per se, ethical and morally right.

This, the editor asserts, makes it all the more important that the press be in a position to report to the public fully, firsthand whenever possible, secondhand from the record when it isn't, on how our government is functioning. Bureaucracy, however, has succeeded in making this virtually impossible.

One means by which the bureaucrat has accomplished this, Newton says, is in the employment of hordes of press agents to stand between him and the press and public. Newton has no more use for the governmental press agents than for the politicians. They are, he points out, paid with taxpayers' money to propagandize those same taxpayers. Their interest is in making their bosses look good, not in keeping the public properly informed. And their handouts are more often deceiving than enlightening.

There is much more in this book. And it is one which should be of interest to others than journalists. Indeed, the public will probably derive more benefit from reading it than will newspapermen. The working press is generally all too aware of the threats which Newton writes about. The public, however, is apparently not so aware of its stake in open and honest government.

ADVENTURES in the tradition of Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn—that's "A Journey to Matecumbe," the new McGraw-Hill book written by Robert Lewis Taylor. This is the jacket art. Taylor's "The Travels of Jaimie McPheeters" won him the 1959 Pulitzer Prize.

Here is a generous novel filled with gentle humor after the manner of Huck Finn and such small boy-older folk adventures which will fill several chuckling hours of reading.

The story involves a fight and killing at a Ku Klux Klan lynching party which precipitates a young boy and his uncle into a wild-and-wooly flight-and-chase down the Mississippi to the Florida Keys.

The run for their lives is leisurely enough to allow stopovers for medicine shows, trombone players, hurricanes, kidnaping, treachery, disguises, convenient escapes and the use of such escape vehicles as skiff, flatboat, railroad, horseback, stage line and, gloriously, an Indian canoe.

Readers visit, quaver and laugh through such redolent towns as Madrid Bend, Pecan Point, Bosky Dell, sell hernia trusses to natives, drink 60 percent a l c o h o l Kickapoo Gooser, watch a fight between a rattler and blacksnake in a Seminole village and in general have a rattling good time in what may be a modern day classic for juveniles—and certainly is a teen-age adventure heaven.

We can quarrel with the "Cock Robin Mystery" series label which Macmillan has applied to this book, because it really isn't a mystery at all. Or even a detective novel in the usual sense of that term. But we don't quarrel with the jacket blurb which describes the book as "a trim, original and unnerving little chiller. . . . A blend of rueful comedy and bearable tragedy done to a turn." It is just that.

The scene is Toronto, Canada. The central figure is a sportswriter, an essentially decent and likeable fellow but with human failings. The troubles he becomes involved in are the result as much of his strengths of character as of his soft spots.

There is no murder, although there is a death. And, as we said, there is no mystery. But there are interesting, honestly drawn characters and an exciting and believable plot. T h e result: Some rewarding and relaxing reading.

James and John used to be friends. They were such good friends that they shared a birthday, umbrella and nature secrets. They even shared the chickenpox.

Because James always wanted to be boss, he and John became enemies. They turned their backs on each other. Just as quickly, they about-faced, and became friends again.

This humorous picture book with simple text appeals to the young child. It mirrors life for him, and we may well get a chuckle from it. But it had a sobering effect on 4-year-old Jean Carole!

Father Goodhue announced on New Year's Day that the following Christmas he would give to the child who had done the "very best thing of all" during the new year a wonderful prize.

As the youngest of the four Goodloe children, Teeny was at a distinct disadvantage in the competition. But she was determined to win.

Her efforts involved her in much excitement and many misadventures. And finally there is the surprise ending with the announcement of the contest winner.

There are excellent drawings, but the emphasis is upon the text. And it makes for lively reading for children in the 7 to 11 year old age bracket.

IN MEMORY OF MY WONDERFUL AND SAINTED MOTHER

Opening my eyes upon a world that meant naught to me
And looking upward, what did I see?
The face of an angel, sweet and mild,
Gazing with holy love, upon her child.
Who could it be but Mother?

Day by day and year by year
She guided me, taught me and wiped away my every tear,
She kissed my hurts and taught me to hear
Words of love, whispered in my ear.
Who could it be but Mother?

Now she is gone, I see her no more
Waiting for me with a smile at the door
As she came to greet me when my day of toil was o'er.
Who could it be but Mother?

But sad as the parting has been
From the one I shall ever adore
Comes the promise: Be faithful and true;
You shall meet again in the morn
Thy Mother . . .

Robin Hood Comes To Mount Tam

Spending a Sunday on Mount Tamalpais watching the annual Mountain Play has become a custom with many Marin and Bay Area families.

Since last year, the Mountain Play Assn. has offered these play-goers a choice of Sundays, having added a second performance.

The initial performance of the 1961 production, "Robin Hood," will be presented tomorrow at 2 p.m. in Sidney S. Cushing Memorial Amphitheater atop Mount Tam. The second performance will take place the following Sunday, May 21, same hour and same place.

Expectations are that some 5,000 persons will make the trip up the mountain tomorrow to view the spectacle which involves a cast of 200 plus scores of behind-the-scenes workers.

This year's play was written and directed by Dan Totheroh, taking full advantage of the natural "Sherwood Forest" setting that scenic Mount Tam provides.

There will be the sounds of broadswords clashing, of arrows whizzing and of laughter at the antics of Friar Tuck and the other members of Robin's merry band.

Archery contests, romance, battles, singing and dancing have all been interwoven into the legend.

Dan Scarlett of Mill Valley will play Robin Hood, and familiar Marin faces will complete the cast.

It marks the 44th year for the Mountain Play.

Directions to the amphitheater will be posted on all Mill Valley roads leading up Mount Tam. And tickets will be available at the amphitheater.

THE FRIAR and Robin interrupt their strenuous swordplay long enough to quench their thirst from the pitcher of Mistress Nell, played by Maxine Patrick of San Rafael. Tomorrow's Mountain Play performance of "Robin Hood" is expected to attract some 5,000 persons to the outdoor amphitheater atop Mount Tamalpais. (Photo by Philip Planert)

Has Anyone Seen Arvey? No, And They Won't Till Unveiling

Ross Valley Players' New Award Is A Closely-Guarded Secret

ENGAGED IN A spirited discussion of the relative merits of several suggested trophies to serve as the Ross Valley Players new "Arvey" award are, left to right, Grant Halsing, Dick Webster and Bern Bernardini. None of the possibilities shown here was selected. And the trophy that was finaliy chosen is being kept a closely-guarded secret until the awards are made next Saturday night. (Photo by Bert Howell)

The movies have their Oscars and television its Emmys. Now the Ross Valley Players, one of Marin's most active little theater groups, has its Arveys.

As any Ross Player can tell you, the Arveys are the awards to be made at a dinner dance which the troupe will sponsor next Saturday night in the Meadow Club at Fairfax. The recipients will be six members of the Players who have earned the awards by excellence in acting or stagecraft.

Few, however, can tell you what the Arvey looks like. That is a secret that is being closely guarded by the committee set up to make the selection of the award.

But committee chairman Bern Bernardini does say: "In choosing an appropriate Arvey, we have not selected an unimaginative piece of statuary which will quickly gather dust in an unforgotten corner. The Arvey award which the committee chose is built around a delightful and colorful character which we are sure will quickly win a place in the hearts of all players and their friends. It is a serious award, which also combines a friendly sense of humor."

The name "Arvey" is derived from the letters "R" and "V" in Ross Valley.

Even more closely guarded than the design of the trophies are the names of the winners. A five-member committee will select the best supporting actor, best supporting actress, best bit player, and player contributing the most to technical achievement.

Selections will be made from among the casts and production crews of the three Ross Valley plays of the current season—"Auntie Mame," "Bus Stop," and "Janus."

Next Saturday's presentations will come in ceremonies scheduled for approximately 10 p.m., following the dinner.

And the Arvey Awards are slated to become an annual tradition with the Players, spurring its members on to even greater excellence than that which has already won the group wide critical acclaim in the past.

THIS MAIN ENTRANCE GATE to the Gordon P. Kelley home at 121 Belvedere Avenue, Belvedere, can be unlatched automatically from the house. The gate and fence are dramatic so as to arrest attention from the street. And the fence "leads" visitors to the Kelley home in friendly fashion. Some Favorite Plants That Hug The Earth And Catch The Eye

Plants that hug the ground play an important role in landscape design.

Spotted in small gardens, they form the base from which to build your color palette. Used in large gardens, they gobble up space and preserve a neat, well-trimmed look in areas that might ordinarily be hard to keep that way.

For all their worth, however, many of the best ground-hugging hand plants are often overlooked by gardeners. They lack publicity, and just don't get a chance to strut their stuff.

Take the eye-catching evergreen candytuft, for instance:

In spring and early summer when you see it, it is a compact mass of white bloom against a rich green background—but how often do you see it? Try it with adjacent clumps of basket of gold alyssm and we'll bet you start seeing it more often in your neighborhood. Cottage pinks —as spicily fragrant as their carnation cousins — are delightful additions to the border, either in clumps or as edging.

Nurserymen suggest that gardeners who wish to get maximum mileage out of these old-fashioned favorites should insure that the soil be non-acid.

Still another to try for drifts of spot color in beds—and this one has real appeal —is creeping phlox. The bloom, when it comes (several colors are available) is so profuse as to hide the prickly foliage. As with the others above, it is at its best this time of year, so keep an eye out for it. And plant it now for next year.

So much for the more compact of our ground-hugging favorites. Among the more widely ranging ground covers, we can recommend creeping thyme, which not only looks nice but emits a tantalizing fragrance when trod underfoot.

GARDENERS CHECKLIST

Here is the Marin gardener's checklist for the coming week:

✔Feed azaleas and camellias, also as well as other acid-loving plants with an acid fertilizer. The label tells you which plants like an acid food.

✔Pinching back is the key to bushier fuchsias and more summer bloom. Don't be afraid to lose a few potential blooms now.

✔Use a canvas soaker on sloping lawns that seem to shed water as fast as you apply it.

✔Feed lawns lightly every month rather than heavily every three months.

Has Anyone Seen Arvey? No, And They Won't Till Unveiling

Ross Valley Players' New Award Is A Closely-Guarded Secret

ENGAGED IN A spirited discussion of the relative merits of several suggested trophies to serve as the Ross Valley Players new "Arvey" award are, left to right, Grant Halsing, Dick Webster and Bern Bernardini. None of the possibilities shown here was selected. And the trophy that was finaliy chosen is being kept a closely-guarded secret until the awards are made next Saturday night. (Photo by Bert Howell)

The movies have their Oscars and television its Emmys. Now the Ross Valley Players, one of Marin's most active little theater groups, has its Arveys.

As any Ross Player can tell you, the Arveys are the awards to be made at a dinner dance which the troupe will sponsor next Saturday night in the Meadow Club at Fairfax. The recipients will be six members of the Players who have earned the awards by excellence in acting or stagecraft.

Few, however, can tell you what the Arvey looks like. That is a secret that is being closely guarded by the committee set up to make the selection of the award.

But committee chairman Bern Bernardini does say: "In choosing an appropriate Arvey, we have not selected an unimaginative piece of statuary which will quickly gather dust in an unforgotten corner. The Arvey award which the committee chose is built around a delightful and colorful character which we are sure will quickly win a place in the hearts of all players and their friends. It is a serious award, which also combines a friendly sense of humor."

The name "Arvey" is derived from the letters "R" and "V" in Ross Valley.

Even more closely guarded than the design of the trophies are the names of the winners. A five-member committee will select the best supporting actor, best supporting actress, best bit player, and player contributing the most to technical achievement.

Selections will be made from among the casts and production crews of the three Ross Valley plays of the current season—"Auntie Mame," "Bus Stop," and "Janus."

Next Saturday's presentations will come in ceremonies scheduled for approximately 10 p.m., following the dinner.

And the Arvey Awards are slated to become an annual tradition with the Players, spurring its members on to even greater excellence than that which has already won the group wide critical acclaim in the past.

LET'S GO INSIDE THE ROBINSON HOME

In the April 22 issue of your Marin Magazine, we showed you the exterior of the striking Wagstaff and McDonald-designed John Robinson home on Skyland Drive in Ross.

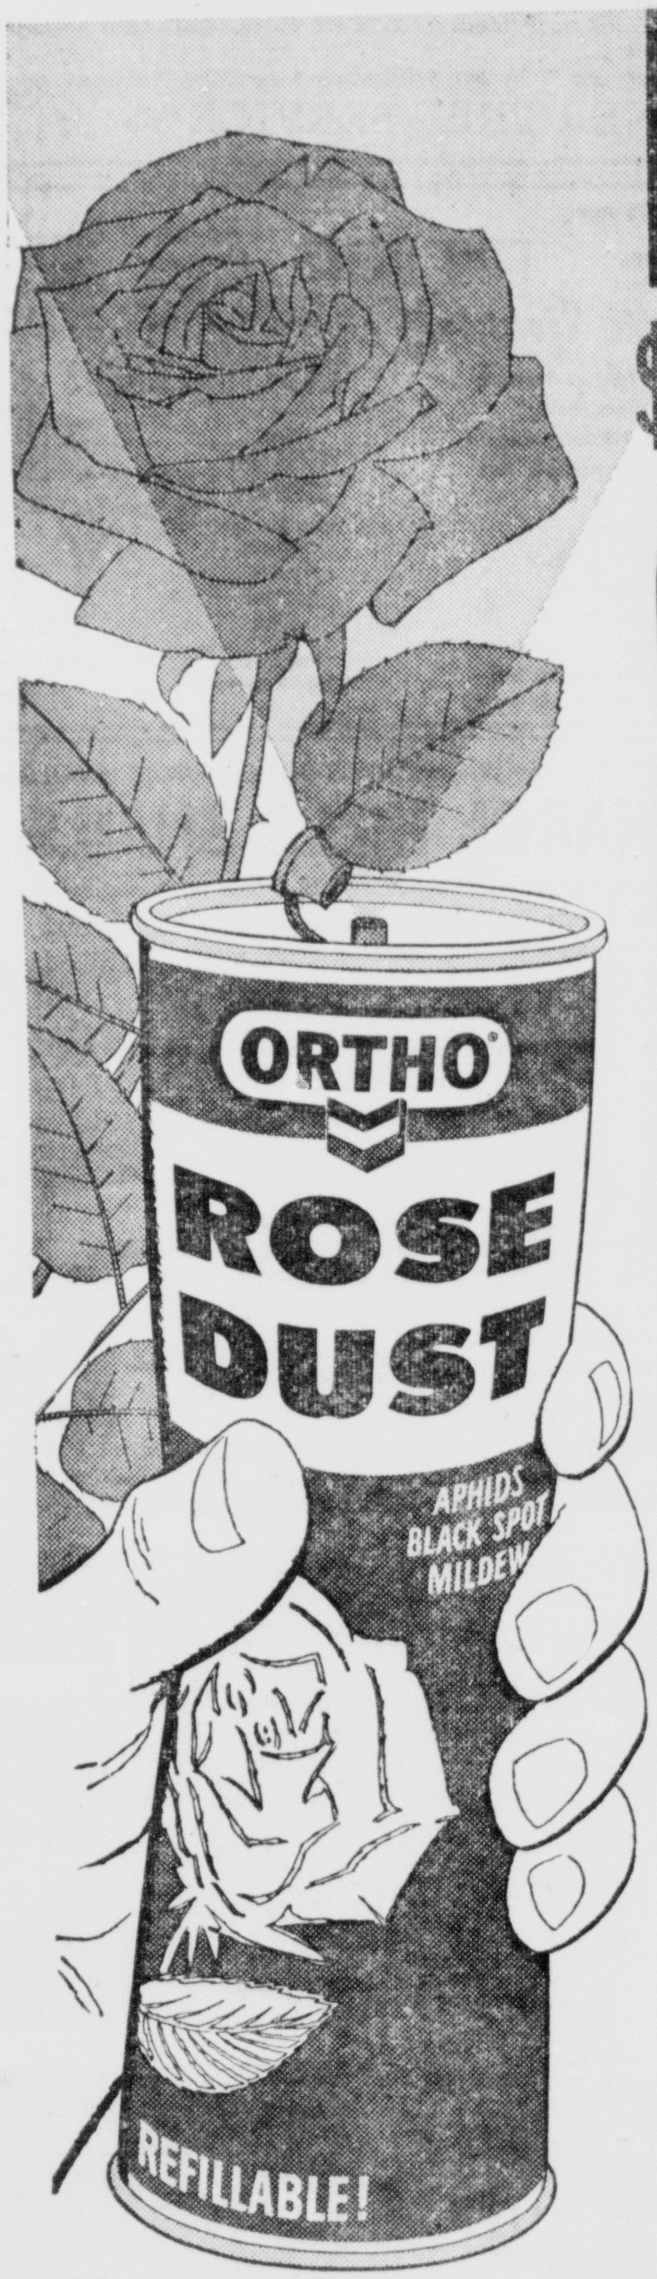

Stressed then was the two-stage approach walk to the traditional home.

Today, we are taking you inside the Robinson home and showing you several Ken Molino photographs of the handsome interior.

The outside emphasis was upon making the house appear "at home" on the wooded slope upon which it is located. Inside, the designers stressed comfort, an air of spaciousness and a pleasant, cheery atmosphere.

MATERIALS ARE used with good effect in the bathroom of the Robinson home. Note the louvered doors and shutters, the indirect lighting, ceramic tile and oval lavatory.

IMPETUS IS GIVEN to the scale of the living room by a lower ceiling height in the dining area. The two areas are integrated by the exceptionally wide dining room opening, and by the same basic color treatments. (Photos by Ken Molino)

A PAIR OF ENTRANCE doors at the John Robinson home on Skyland Drive in Ross open into a sunken entry hall. Generous space is effected by allowing height of this area to run a full floor and a half. Colors are whites and off-whites with accents in blacks.

IMPETUS IS GIVEN to the scale of the living room by a lower ceiling height in the dining area. The two areas are integrated by the exceptionally wide dining room opening, and by the same basic color treatments. (Photos by Ken Molino)

THE MASTER BEDROOM features built-in storage throughout. Darkly-stained oak floors offer a pleasant contrast to off-white walls and cabinet work. The Robinson home, located on a slope on Skyland Drive, Ross, was designed by Wagstaff and McDonald of San Anselmo.

BOB HOPE rehearses with one of his guest stars, Julie London, in preparation for tonight's hour-long special to be seen at 8:30 on KRON. Bob will also be host to Juliet Prowse and Jim Garner in the program of comedy and music.

CHECKING the CHANNELS

With HAL CASE

There's Plenty Of Variety On Tap For TV Viewers Tonight

COMEDY, SPORTS, drama, history, public affairs, music —they will all be on television tonight in one of the liveliest Saturday evening schedules in some time.

Most of the comedy and much of the music will be provided by the "Bob Hope Show," to be carried on KRON starting at 8:30. It will be Hope's eighth and final program of the 1960-61 season. His guests will include Julie London, Juliet Prowse and James Garner. There will be the usual comedy skits, but the highlight for us of any Hope show is Bob's opening monologue. And you can bet he'll have some comments tonight on the achievements of astronauts and other world events.

There will be a wide variety of sporting events on video, starting with coverage of the finals of the Professional Bowlers Assn. National Invitational Tournament from Paramus, N. J., on KGO from 4:30 to 7 as the "Wide World of Sports" presentation. A select field of 192 of the world's greatest keglers is competing for $75,000 in prize money.

The "Fight of the Week" on KGO at 7 o'clock will be between two welterweights, Philadelphia's Charley Scott and Puerto Rican Jose Gonzalez. And at 5:15 p.m. KPIX will carry the $25,000-added Debonair Stakes to launch a series of Saturday telecasts of featured races from Hollywood Park. The regular Saturday night bowling shows are also on the TV log.

As for history, the "Our American Heritage" series will be back on KRON at 9:30 with "Woodrow Wilson and the Unknown Soldier." Judson Laire will portray the World War I president, Don Ameche will narrate. It will be the 13th historical drama in the excellent series which will be concluding its second season. And in a departure from past shows, tonight's story will make extensive use of film footage and still photographs along with the live dramatic segments.

Two Negro stars of exceptional talent, Ossie Davis and Ruby Dee, play the lead roles in "Seven Times Monday," the KTVU "Play of the Week" drama to be seen at 9 p.m. The Ernest Pendrell story of a young man's search for identification at home and at work is being repeated for those who failed to see it Wednesday night.

As for public affairs, a debate over the proposed Wilderness Bill affecting Pt. Reyes, originally scheduled for April 22 but pre-empted then by a special network show, has been re-slated by KRON for 10 o'clock this evening. Speaking in favor of the bill will be Dr. Edgar Wayburn, Sierra Club vice president, and Howard Zahniser, Wilderness Society executive secretary. Arguing against the bill will be George Craig, secretary-manager of the Western Lumber Manufacturers, and Sam Wilkiston, president of the Cordero Mining Co.

IF NONE OF the programs above appeal to your taste, there are still the regular standbys ranging from Perry Mason to Lawrence Welk. And, of course, the movies.

KTVU regularly schedules a better than fair British film in its Saturday 7:30 time spot. Tonight it will be Richard Todd in "For Them That Trespass," a story of murder filmed in 1949.

IN CONTRAST to tonight's promising schedule, tomorrow's log appears to be well below par for a Sunday.

There will be, however, an interview with Dr. Jonas E. Salk, the developer of the first effective vaccine against paralytic polio, on "Meet the Press" over KRON at 4 p.m.

The panel of newsmen is expected to question Dr. Salk particularly concerning his current investigations as to the durability of the immunity which follows inoculation with Salk vaccine. The study is aimed at determining why vaccinated children still occasionally contract polio.

Dr. Salk is also working on a research project to develop a means to immunize man against all virus diseases of the central nervous system.

Another interview tomorrow: Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, only Republican member of the Kennedy cabinet, on "Issues and Answers" at 4:30 on KGO. The administration's fiscal policies will be probed.

ONE OF World War II's bloodiest chapters, the Battle of the Bulge, will be relived in Chapter 22 of "Winston Churchill — The Valiant Years" at 10:30 tomorrow night on KGO.

It's the story of Christmas, 1944, with the V-2 attack on Britain at its peak.

At Bastogne the desperate Germans were making their last major effort to turn the tide against the invading allies. And Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, acting commander of the 101st Airborne Division, made one of the most famous written replies in military history when confronted with a demand to surrender—the single word: "Nuts!"

The same General McAuliffe will appear in a filmed sequence in tonight's program.

WATERFRONT leaders who ordinarily would confront each other at the bargaining table will sit down tomorrow for a less formal gabfest on the "Herb Caen Show" on KGO at 2 p.m.

Caen has lined up as his guests Longshore union chief Harry Bridges, labor arbitrator Sam Kagel, and shipping executives George Killion and Clarence Morse.

The quartet is scheduled to discuss harbor, shipping and travel matters, but will, no doubt, also touch on union-company relationships in the course of the talks.

CHECKING the CHANNELS

With HAL CASE

There's Plenty Of Variety On Tap For TV Viewers Tonight

COMEDY, SPORTS, drama, history, public affairs, music —they will all be on television tonight in one of the liveliest Saturday evening schedules in some time.

Most of the comedy and much of the music will be provided by the "Bob Hope Show," to be carried on KRON starting at 8:30. It will be Hope's eighth and final program of the 1960-61 season. His guests will include Julie London, Juliet Prowse and James Garner. There will be the usual comedy skits, but the highlight for us of any Hope show is Bob's opening monologue. And you can bet he'll have some comments tonight on the achievements of astronauts and other world events.

There will be a wide variety of sporting events on video, starting with coverage of the finals of the Professional Bowlers Assn. National Invitational Tournament from Paramus, N. J., on KGO from 4:30 to 7 as the "Wide World of Sports" presentation. A select field of 192 of the world's greatest keglers is competing for $75,000 in prize money.

The "Fight of the Week" on KGO at 7 o'clock will be between two welterweights, Philadelphia's Charley Scott and Puerto Rican Jose Gonzalez. And at 5:15 p.m. KPIX will carry the $25,000-added Debonair Stakes to launch a series of Saturday telecasts of featured races from Hollywood Park. The regular Saturday night bowling shows are also on the TV log.

As for history, the "Our American Heritage" series will be back on KRON at 9:30 with "Woodrow Wilson and the Unknown Soldier." Judson Laire will portray the World War I president, Don Ameche will narrate. It will be the 13th historical drama in the excellent series which will be concluding its second season. And in a departure from past shows, tonight's story will make extensive use of film footage and still photographs along with the live dramatic segments.

Two Negro stars of exceptional talent, Ossie Davis and Ruby Dee, play the lead roles in "Seven Times Monday," the KTVU "Play of the Week" drama to be seen at 9 p.m. The Ernest Pendrell story of a young man's search for identification at home and at work is being repeated for those who failed to see it Wednesday night.

As for public affairs, a debate over the proposed Wilderness Bill affecting Pt. Reyes, originally scheduled for April 22 but pre-empted then by a special network show, has been re-slated by KRON for 10 o'clock this evening. Speaking in favor of the bill will be Dr. Edgar Wayburn, Sierra Club vice president, and Howard Zahniser, Wilderness Society executive secretary. Arguing against the bill will be George Craig, secretary-manager of the Western Lumber Manufacturers, and Sam Williston, president of the Cordero Mining Co.

IF NONE OF the programs above appeal to your taste, there are still the regular standbys ranging from Perry Mason to Lawrence Welk. And, of course, the movies.

KTVU regularly schedules a better than fair British film in its Saturday 7:30 time spot. Tonight it will be Richard Todd in "For Them That Trespass," a story of murder filmed in 1949.

IN CONTRAST to tonight's promising schedule, tomorrow's log appears to be well below par for a Sunday.

There will be, however, an interview with Dr. Jonas E. Salk, the developer of the first effective vaccine against paralytic polio, on "Meet the Press" over KRON at 4 p.m.

The panel of newsmen is expected to question Dr. Salk particularly concerning his current investigations as to the durability of the immunity which follows inoculation with Salk vaccine. The study is aimed at determining why vaccinated children still occasionally contract polio.

Dr. Salk is also working on a research project to develop a means to immunize man against all virus diseases of the central nervous system.

Another interview tomorrow: Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, only Republican member of the Kennedy cabinet, on "Issues and Answers" at 4:30 on KGO. The administration's fiscal policies will be probed.

ONE OF World War II's bloodiest chapters, the Battle of the Bulge, will be relived in Chapter 22 of "Winston Churchill — The Valiant Years" at 10:30 tomorrow night on KGO.

It's the story of Christmas, 1944, with the V-2 attack on Britain at its peak.

At Bastogne the desperate Germans were making their last major effort to turn the tide against the invading allies. And Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, acting commander of the 101st Airborne Division, made one of the most famous written replies in military history when confronted with a demand to surrender—the single word: "Nuts!"

The same General McAuliffe will appear in a filmed sequence in tonight's program.

WATERFRONT leaders who ordinarily would confront each other at the bargaining table will sit down tomorrow for a less formal gabfest on the "Herb Caen Show" on KGO at 2 p.m.

Caen has lined up as his guests Longshore union chief Harry Bridges, labor arbitrator Sam Kagel, and shipping executives George Killion and Clarence Morse.

The quartet is scheduled to discuss harbor, shipping and travel matters, but will, no doubt, also touch on union-company relationships in the course of the talks.
